LOVE DREAM ENDS

CHEROKEE INDIAN SUES HIS BANKER FATHER-IN-LAW FOR ALIENATION.

WAS AN OKLAHOMA ROMANCE

Young People Married, but Trouble Followed and Now Youth Blames the Bride's Parent, Who Heads a Bank.

Kansas City, April 1.—The romance of an Oklahoma town that led to Kansas City is ended. An 18-year-old girl, the daughter of a vice president of a bank, is with her parents at the Broadlands, 104 Hunter avenue, and visitors are not allowed to see her. A young Cherokee Indian who left his rich father to prove that he could make a living for himself and bride, has filed suit for $25,000 against the father and uncles of the girl for alienation of his wife's affections. He does not ask for a divorce.

Geraldine McCluskey is the name of the girl. Her father is C. B. McCluskey, vice president of the National Reserve bank, who formerly was president of the Oklahoma State bank, in Muskogee, Okla. In Muskogee Miss McCluskey met John Zufall, the son of a blacksmith who had grown rich. He fell in love with the girl and she with him. The girl's parents objected to the match, but their talk did not influence her.

Last September Mr. McCluskey sent his daughter to Belmont college, Nashville, Tenn., hoping that she would forget her Indian sweetheart. Zufall went to Nashville, too, and on Thanksgiving day they were married secretly. The bride went with her husband to Muskogee. Her parents refused to forgive her, and she was told not to return home. Zufall left his father and went into business for himself.

For one month the Zufalls lived in small apartment. Then a motor car came for Mrs. Zufall. The car was her father's, and the chauffeur gave her a message that her mother was ill in Ardmore, Okla. She was taken to the depot. When her husband found she had left her home, he followed her and tried to persuade her to return home, saying that her parents were trying to take her away from him. She became angry and told him that her mother was ill and that she would go to her.

Mrs. Zufall boarded the train for Ardmore. The young Indian went back to the apartment where they had lived and remained there, but she never returned. Two months later he filed suit, alleging that his wife had been taken away from him by the persistent efforts of her family, and that they had continually referred to him as "the blacksmith's son," and told her that he was a person unsuited to be the husband of a girl of good family.

"I don't know. I don't know."

Mr. McCluskey sat in the parlor of the Broadlands last night, and twisting and tearing the dispatch which told him of the filing of Zufall's suit. He refused to allow visitors to see his daughter and declined to answer questions concerning the truth of the dispatch.

ENTERTAINED THURSDAY

Ladies' Calendar of First M. E. Church Were.

The members of the Ladies' calendar of the First M. E. church, forty in number, were delightfully entertained at the church parlors between the hours of 2:30 and 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, the hostesses for the occasion being Mesdames H. E. Huston, S. C. Gold, J. L. Butterworth and Ford Snyder.

The early part of the session was devoted to a business meeting, followed by a social session, during which refreshments of ice cream, cake, coffee and mints were served.

SLASH IN COMMITTEE

Trouble Marked Today's Session of Ballinger-Pinchot Investigation.

Washington, April 1.—The taking of testimony before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee was marked today by the most serious clash among the senators and representatives that has yet marked the proceedings. Chairman Nelson accused Attorney Brandeis of concealing certain facts and brought from the latter the demand that the remarks be stricken from the record. Senator Nelson refused to withdraw his statement, and a motion to lay the whole matter on the table was finally adopted by a vote of six to three, the democrats demanding a roll call.

They Dined at Smithton.

Edward Hurley, the real estate dealer and prospective candidate for the presidency of the Sedalia Automobile club, and Dr. D. P. Dyer, the ethical automobilist, accompanied by Miss Blanche Bosserman and the latter's guest, Miss Marguerite Mardoug, of Aurora, Ill., enjoyed an automobile drive to Smithton Thursday evening, dining at the Smithton hotel at the supper hour, and returning here last night.

NOT SETTLED YET

THE PRESIDENT MAY NOT MAKE COURT APPOINTMENT AT ONCE.

BOWERS MAY LOSE AFTER ALL

It May Be Six Weeks or Longer Before the Place Is Filled—H. H. Hoyt, a Classmate, Is Mentioned.

Washington, April 1.—The gossips who were so sure last night that Lloyd W. Bowers had been to all practical purposes selected for the vacancy on the supreme bench, caused by the death of Justice David J. Brewer, are much less certain. The president has intimated that he will not make the appointment of a new justice for at least six weeks and perhaps longer. It is even intimated that the appointment may not be made before December, which would mean not until after the tobacco trust and standard Oil cases have been decided.

That may, in fact, be in Bowers' favor, as the gossip was drifting away from him because he represented the government in the Standard Oil case and had a part in the trial of the tobacco cases. Having appeared as an attorney in these cases he could not very well sit in the trial of either of them in case the death of Justice Brewer should make a rehearing of either case necessary. In the event of such a division in the court as would give neither the government nor the company a majority of the court, the cases would have to come up for a rehearing. Then, of course, the new judge would be useless for judicial purposes if he felt that he could not sit in the case.

The Standard Oil case was argued in March, beginning March 14, and of course has not progressed far enough so that the court itself, to say nothing of anyone else, could tell whether a rehearing will be necessary. A rehearing of that case would embarrass several who have aspirations for the vacant seat. Charles Nagel, who is the second favorite here in Washington, appeared for a few days in the trial of the Missouri Standard Oil cases, but retired before the case had progressed very far. That, however, leaves him in the position of having been at one time connected with the company in litigation similar to that pending in the supreme court.

Judge W. C. Hook, whose claims the Kansas delegation will present, was one of the judges of the circuit court of appeals who tried the very case that is here on appeal. As a judge it might be said he has an interest in seeing his own decisions upheld, but he could go on the supreme court bench and try the appealed case easier than the men who have been attorneys on either side of this litigation. It may be necessary for the president to name a man for Judge Brewer's place early in order to have these cases heard again, and in that case a new name is much talked of—Henry M. Hoyt, now counselor of the state department. He and the president were in Yale together and he is now the close friend of the president, and, if anything, a closer friend of Secretary Knox.

"Tramp" Hathaway Here.

"Tramp" Hathaway, the contortionist, arrived in Sedalia from Denver today and will give free exhibitions on the public streets during his sojourn here. He says he is a professional "hobo" and "has got the world beat," including "A No. 1."

ARE NOT WORKING

AFFECTS NEARLY EVERY FIELD

Operators and Workers Could Not Reach an Agreement and No Work Will Be Done Until Settlement Is Reachtd.

Pittsburg, Kas., April 1.—From the appearance of the streets here today it is evident that no work is being done in the mines in this district. Hundreds of miners walked about in their good clothes, but said they were observing the anniversary of the passage of the eight-hour-day law in Kansas, which comes on April 1, as well as protesting against the operators' refusal to meet their demands.

Three Hundred Thousand Affected.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 1.—Three hundred thousand organized miners of the bituminous coal fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas quit work pending settlement of a new wage scale.

Officers of the United Mine Workers of North America declared that the walkout was not a strike, but merely a suspension of work because no wage scale had been made to replace the old scale, which expired with the month of March. The miners demand an increase of pay in some instances of 5 cents a ton and in other instances more, with certain changes in working conditions.

Confidence was expressed by the operators that there would be no general coal famine, large supplies of fuel having been stored in anticipation of the walkout.

While the miners predict that the suspension will be cut short by a prompt signing of wage scales, some of the operators maintain that the mines may be kept closed for a month, or longer.

The first settlement came in an announcement from Brazil, Ind., the center of the Indiana block coal field, where the men's demand for a 5-cent increase was granted.

President Lewis, before leaving to visit the centers of the different mining fields, made the following estimate of the number of miners affected by the suspension of work:

Western and Central Pennsylvania	100,000
Ohio	47,000
Indiana	18,000
West Virginia	10,000
Illinois	72,000
Iowa	15,000
Michigan	2,000
Kansas, Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma	25,000
Colorado	5,000
Western Kentucky	5,000
Total	300,000

Reviewing the situation, President Lewis said:

"When the national executive board adjourned tonight, we all felt that the prospect was very satisfactory for the miners. In many districts it is now only a question of the miners and operators sitting down together and talking over business.

"In eastern Ohio, where we expected strong opposition, it is reported to us that three of the largest companies are ready to sign the contract we formulated at our recent meeting in Cincinnati.

"In Indiana and the Hocking district in Ohio, we will reach a settlement next week. There probably will be more difficulty in western Pennsyvlania and Illinois, where the powder and shot firers' wage questions are involved."

Nine Hundred Mines Close.

St. Louis, April 1.—Nine hundred coal mines in Illinois have closed down and 75,000 miners stopped work. The mines will be closed until a new wage scale is signed.

When the whistles blew at the end of the day shift, the miners walked out with their implements and the workings were turned over to the pump men and engineers, who will be the only men at work tomorrow morning.

The mines will be closed for probably sixty days and possibly for four months, according to statements of members of the operators' executive committee.

Jackson County Judge Dead.

Kansas City, Mo., April 1—George Holmes, judge of the Jackson county court, died at his home in this city today, aged 77 years.

Judge Holmes had been prominent in local democratic politics for many years. He was a pioneer live stock dealer, having retired in 1900.

ONE MAN CAUGHT

"EDDIE" FAY, NOTORIOUS BURGLAR, IS HELD IN NEW YORK CITY.

POST OFFICE STEAL IS CHARGED

Much of the Loot Has Been Recovered, but $12,000 Is Still Missing From the Amount That Was Taker.

New York, April 1.—Twelve thousand dollars' worth of loot and one burglar are still being sought here today by government secret service men and the police in connection with the recent plundering of the Richmond, Va., postoffice.

One of the most notorious safe crackers in the country, Frederick Cunningham, better known as "Eddie" Fay, is under $20,000 bond here with his companion, Frank Chester, charged with the crime. A third man, who was with Cunningham and Chester just before they were caught, is still missing.

In five trunks $73,000 of the $85,000 in stamps and cash stolen was recovered in installments.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 1.—Burglaries which netted him nearly $50,000 in stamps and coin, no part of which has ever been recovered, are charged to "Eddie" Fay, who is under arrest in New York for alleged participation in the Richmond, Va., postoffice robbery. Three Southern California cities are thought to have suffered, Los Angeles, San Diego and Pasadena.

Fay was well known here several years ago, occupying sumptuous quarters in a hotel, entertaining lavishly and posing as a man of wealth and leisure. He suddenly disappeared in 1905, and on the day of his disappearance the Nichi Bei-Ginko, a Japanese bank, reported that a safe had been dynamited and $16,000 in gold and notes taken. Fay's resemblance to a photograph in the rogues' gallery directed suspicion toward him, and he was traced to Central America, but could not be extradited.

A few days after the bank robbery, the San Diego postoffice lost $10,738 in stamps and $4,000 in gold. In 1907 the Pasadena postoffice was looted of $13,000 in stamps, and though clues were lacking, both robberies were charged to Fay.

WOULDN'T WAIT TILL JUNE

Jacob Chasnoff and Miss Lincnthal Married at Boston Today.

A private message to Mr. M. Chasnoff received at noon today brought the news of the marriage of his son, Jacob, which took place at Boston, Mass., this morning, the bride being Miss Julia Linenthal.

The wedding at this time was a surprise to the groom's parents, as they had been informed that it would occur next June and the message today apprising them of the marriage was a complete surprise and a disappointment as well, as Mr. and Mrs. Chasnoff had planned to attend the event next June. Mr. Chasnoff, in speaking of the wedding today, said the young people opposed the large wedding the bride's parents were planning, and presumed that the couple decided to forestall such an event by getting married at this time.

The message stated also that the young people would leave for the west at once to visit in Sedalia before going to St. Louis, where Mr. Chasnoff is engaged in the practice of law, to reside.

BIDING HIS TIME

NORRIS, CHIEF DISTURBER OF THE INSURGENTS, HAS MUCH PATIENCE.

HAS NOT SPRUNG LAST SENSATION

Before the Session Is Over it Is Predicted He Will Again Be Heard From in Anti-Cannon Fight.

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Referring to the late unpleasantness in the lower house of congress, have you noticed how carefully Representative George H. Norris, chief disturber of the insurgents, has accepted the situation? Like every good strategist he is biding his time, and though he would not allow himself to be nominated for the rules committee, from whose chairmanship he and his comrades ousted "Uncle" Joe Cannon because he knew he would be defeated, those who are in the know say that Norris has not sprung his last sensation of the season. Perhaps he will support insurgent Senators Lafollette and Dolliver when their measures reach the house. At any rate he has provided a lot of attraction for the country in general, which was coming to look upon the congressional sessions as very tame affairs. Norris pulled his forces together admirably, but you must not call him a leader "for a' of that." It's the one thing that makes him really mad. He is not an admirer of pretty names, for he does not always do pretty things. When he wants to do a little job like the recent deposing of the speaker from the rules committee, he calls it a snake killing. Once it is done, Norris is through.

Like most of the other men who have figured prominently in the spiking of Cannon, Norris is completely self raised. He was born on a mortgaged farm in Sandusky county, Ohio, in 1861. He was barely able to toddle about when his only brother was killed in the Union army. Then his father died, worn out by the hardships of farming, and is mother and the boy were left alone to fight their battle. He worked out on neighboring farms by the day and week, and went to the district school in the winter time. By and by he became a teacher, graduated from a couple of fresh water colleges, and in 1885, two years after he had been admitted to the bar, went to Nebraska. There he was several times prosecuting attorney, and later district judge, and is now serving his fourth term in congress.

He's a short, square muscular chap, Norris is. He dresses in blue serge, neither old nor new, and is medium in height and girth and looks. He acts like a country lawyer just opening a city office. He isn't an orator, although he speaks very much to the point. He isn't particularly a leader of men, for he doesn't bother to lead them. Off the floor he talks quietly, without undue emphasis, and in such a matter-of-fact way that quotations seldom get to the papers.

JUDGE HOFFMAN TO TALK

Will Address a Sunday School Class Sunday Morning.

The Trinity English Lutheran Sunday school, which during the past two months has grown more rapidly than any other Sunday school in the city, will have the pleasure of hearing Judge Louis Hoffman at the close of the lesson study next Sunday morning.

Judge Hoffman is in demand every Sunday and the Lutheran school is fortunate in securing him. He has a message that will be of especial interest to every grownup student of the Bible and lover of the Sunday school work.

A FORMER JUDGE

W. M. ROBINSON, ONCE ON SUPREME BENCH, DEFENDANT IN ALIENATION SUIT.

HE ASKS DAMAGES OF $40,000

Case Is a Sequel to a Divorce Granted to Mrs. Manley by the Newton County Court on Venue Change From Jasper.

Joplin, Mo., April 1.—I. E. Manley, of Webb City, pioneer mine operator, yesterday filed suit in the Jasper county circuit court for $40,000 damages from Judge W. M. Robinson, for ten years a member of the supreme court of Missouri, and now a resident of the state capital, alleging that Robinson alienated the affections of Mrs. Laura E. Manley, who recently obtained a divorce and $8,500 alimony.

The Manley divorce case has become a cause celebre in Jasper county during the various litigations which preceded its final settlement in the Newton county circuit court last month. The latest legal development, however, is the most sensational.

The domestic troubles of the Manleys first reached the courts about eighteen months ago, when Mrs. Manley brought suit for divorce. The case was continued several times, and was finally taken to the circuit court of Newton county on a change of venue, supposably in an effort to avoid the publicity attached to trial in Joplin. In the course of the trial at Neosho, it was alleged that Mrs. Manley received financial assistance from some person.

A decree of divorce and $8,500 permanent alimony was granted to Mrs. Manley by Judge J. J. Johnson, after a trial lasting eight days, and marked by the bitterest legal battle in the history of the Newton county court. Manley appealed from the judge's decision, taking the case to the state supreme court, where it is now pending. In the meantime his attorneys followed up the information obtained in the trial, and the suit against Judge Robinson is the result.

Judge Robinson is 55 years old, wealthy and has a wife and two grown children. He formerly lived in Webb City, and it was from there that, in 1892, he was elected to the supreme court, serving ten years. He also was formerly circuit judge of Jasper county.

It is alleged in Manley's petition that both before and after Mrs Manley filed her suit for divorce, Judge Robinson was a frequent visitor in Webb City, and assisted her to make her case against her husband.

Manley owns mines in the Joplin and Webb City districts, and has been extensively interested in a mining machinery company. At the Neosho trial his wealth was admitted to be $27,000, on which basis Judge Johnson allowed the wife $8,500.

Judge Robinson has retained a large amount of his interests in mines and commercial enterprises in this district since he moved his residence to Jefferson City, and is widely known here.

CASH BOUGHT LAW

NEW YORK PROBE BRINGS TO LIGHT MORE AND MORE CORRUPTION.

DEAL COST COMPANIES $10,000

Most Anything Could Be Had From the Legislature if Enough Money Was Forthcoming. to Lobby.

New York, April 1.—More light was given at the insurance hearing yesterday on prices current in Albany in 1901 for making things move in the right direction for those who happened to be interested in legislation that year. The bill of Senator Krum's exempting unearned premiums from taxation, it appears, interested the surety companies, as well as the fire insurance interests.

At today's session Henry C. Wilcox, vice president of the American Surety company and at that time its general solicitor, told of how he and a representative of the Fidelity and Casualty company tried to get Senator John Raines and Assemblyman Meriton Lewis, who were then in charge of the bill in the two houses, to consent to have the bill include surety companies. They failed, and then sought Judge Andy Hamilton, who said he would fix it up. The bill went to Governor Odell, who sent it back to the leaders with the instructions to have it contain the changes which they had told Judge Hamilton to procure for them. So confident were the surety interests of Hamilton's ability in this line, so it appeared from Mr. Wilcox's testimony, that they did not send a representative to the hearing that was held before the governor finally approved of the bill.

Hamilton's charge for this job was $10,000. As usual, there was a kick, and Mr. Wilcox succeeded in raising $6,500, which he paid Hamilton, thinking it wsa a compromise sum for all interested. Hamilton insisted that $1,000 more was due from Wilcox, but in the meantime, without Wilcox's knowledge, he demanded $2,530 from the National Surety company, and got it. He didn't get the $1,000, but for two hours either he or Buckley was dunning Wilcox for it constantly. Hamilton writing him in one letter that "rather than have the matter fail afer we have gone so far and made our promises I would cut myself off," and Buckley, in another letter, declaring, as a gentle incentive, that payment of the bill would help along a charity, St. Peter's hospital, in this city.

Testimony, brought out concerning Buckley's own bill of $21,400 to the Travelers' Insurance company for putting through a bill in 1903, showed that Buckley had rendered two bills at practically the same time, had received two checks in payment on the same day and had had one of the checks for $10,000 cashed for him immediately by the New York Life Insurance company, around whose offices Buckley was known as "Willie."

As showing a resumption of activity on the part of Buckley in 1908, when Buckley said he wasn't in the business and wasn't registered as a lobbyist under the new law, there was produced a series of letters passing between President Joyce of the National Surety company and Buckley, in which it appeared that the company wanted Buckley to procure an amendment to the motor vehicle law compelling automobile drivers to give bond for their appearance in accident cases and an amendment to the code of criminal procedure making surety companies' bonds acceptable in accident cases in the courts. Although Buckley got his friend Grady to work he wasn't successful, but wrote to President Joyce that the thing would be arranged the next year, "provided it was attended to a little earlier."

Elijah R. Kennedy could not recall the names of any more politicians that got money from him in 1901, but that $1,000 that he gave Mr. Aldridge he gave to him personally, and not for any campaign fund. It was for services, and he thought Mr. Aldridge thoroughly understood that. Mr. Kennedy was moved on the stand to make general complaint of what he called extra-constitutional government of those days.

A THHOUGHT FOR TODAY.

No cord or cable can draw so forcibly, or bind so fast, as love can do with only a single thread.—Burton.

JOHN H. PERDUE, NOMINEE FOR CITY COLLECTOR.

Connected with the early history of Pettis county is the name of Perdue

The democratic nominee for city collector at the coming election is John H. Perdue, a grandson of Judge John W. Perdue, who was a judge of our Pettis county court in 1884, when our court house was built. James B. Perdue, the father of John H., moved from his farm in Elk Fork township when John was a school boy, and our nominee received his education in the schools of Sedalia. After leaving school Mr. Perdue held for some years a position in the Sedalia National bank under E. R. Blair, who was for many years the cashier of that institution.

From this position Mr. Perdue moved to the farm and for eight years was one of the active and progressive farmers of Pettis county. Three years ago Mr. Perdue moved to Sedalia to accept a position with the auditing department of the Missouri Pacific Railway Co., and has also been on the clerical force of the freight department of the M., K. & T. Railway Co.

Recognizing the clerical and business ability of Mr. Perdue, our county collector during the busy season secured his services, and the experience thus gained better fits him for the position to which he aspires.

In presenting the name of John H. Perdue as the democratic nominee for city collector we feel that no mistake has been made. The office is one of great importance to the city of Sedalia. We need a faithful, competent and ever ready man to fill this position. Mr. Perdue is a man of sterling qualities of character, a man of fine ability, enterprising, energetic and brave in the performance of duty. His qualifications as an accountant and clerical man are excellent. If you want a fair, courageous, correct and pleasant tempered city collector, vote for John H. Perdue, irrespective of party affiliation, and you will make no mistake.

IN TROUBLE.

It is said that Roosevelt has called Pinchot across the ocean to meet him where they can privately talk over many matters of general importance, but especially concerning the trouble with Ballinger.

The extreme intimacy between the two men for years doubtless prompts Mr. Roosevelt to get from first hand information of Taft's dismissal of Pinchot from office. This particular move unmistakably indicates Roosevelt's anxiety over the condition of politics in this country at the present time. He can not wait until he reaches home, and wants time to study plans for healing serious breaches as early as possible. Of course, he has already heard a great deal, but he wants to get the versions by his own friends from their own lips, and not even on paper.

Before he sails for America he will begin the work of healing breaches toward a general reconciliation. He has no love for Joseph G. Cannon, but Root may give so good an account of Cannon's services in helping Aldrich construct a bogus reduction of the tariff, that he is not unlikely to make an effort to save Cannon's hide.

All the same, the bogus tariff is on Four-fifths of the country is groaning under it. Many millions of hungry mouths are crying out in protest against the great wrong. Teddy will sweat before he gets through. But what in the world is going to become of poor Mr. Taft? There is a dilemma for you.

MAKES A SERIOUS CHARGE.

The Philadelphia North American, a republican newspaper, which, while bitterly opposing the domination of Aldrich and Cannon, has on all occasions attested its faith in the absolute integrity and good purpose of Mr. Taft, now charges in deliberate language that the president has made knowingly untruthful statements in his public speeches in reference to the railroad bill.

In his Albany speech the president declared that the bill makes traffic agreements lawful only if they are approved by the interstate commerce commission.

"Such an assertion," says the North American, "is absolutely untrue, and places the president in the attitude of trying to effect one thing by direct legislation for the benefit of the railroads, while trying to persuade the public that he is doing something entirely different in the interest of the public."

The president's staunchest friends are finding it increasingly difficult to defend his administration.

The federal grand jury at Chicago has returned indictments against the National Packing Co. and ten subsidiary companies for alleged violation of the Sherman act by fixing prices and restraining trade. The national government, as usual, is a lap or two behind the state governments in trust-busting, a New Jersey grand jury having taken similar action several weeks ago. This is no reason, however, why the federal government, now that indictments have been found, should not push vigorously the prosecution of the concerns indicted, in which work it will have the active support of the meat-eating public.

The adoption by the English house of lords of Lord Roseberry's resolution embodying renunciation of the hereditary rights of peers to legislate, is one of the most striking evidences that has ever been given of the onward march of democracy in the British realm. It is, in fact, revolutionary, overturning a centuries-old custom that, by the lords, has hitherto been considered an inallenable right. The English people are to be congratulated upon so splendid a demonstration of the fact that they are throwing off the traditions of a worn-out and useless hereditary aristocracy.

The window glass trust is not at all displeased with past, present and prosective conditions in Philadelphia, where 400,000 windows have been smashed since the strike began.

Somebody should introduce a bill in congress to provide for a secretary of dancing in the Taft cabinet.

Commander Peary found Atlanta, Ga., fully as chilly as the north pole.

Don't you hear that Plymouth Rock democratic rooster crowing?

Don't Want Pilots.

Chicago, Ill., April 1.—Whether power boats will have licensed pilots and engineers and be inspected like steamboats by the federal government are among the questions to be discussed by powerboat men from all parts of the United States at the annual meeting of the National Power Boat association at the La Salle hotel. Decided opposition to the plans of certain government officials who would burden pleasure vessels with undue restrictions is bound to result.

A Strange "God Tree."

What is a god tree? Nobody knows or had ever heard of such a thing until, not long ago, an ethnological explorer came across quite a lot of them on certain little known islands along the west coast of Sumatra.

The god tree is carved out of wood, with curiously fashioned branches of the same material. On these branches are hung strings of bright colored bits of cloth and tiny baskets filled with grains of rice. The whole affair is not more than three feet high.

According to the belief of the natives of the islands aforesaid, a god lives in the tree. He is not a particularly good sort of divinity and, if he takes a notion to leave the tree he is liable to do folks a mischief. The best way to persuade him to stay at home in the tree is to make the latter attractive by adorning it in the manner described and by supplying rice in baskets for the god to eat.

The god is a household god and the tree which he inhabits is kept in a corner of the family dwelling.

His Advice.

"Get on the water wagon," the man advised one woman who has heart trouble. "If you don't you'll have every disease imaginable or real. You'll imagine you have diseases you don't have, and have real diseases you'll never dream of having.

"Heart disease! I've had heart disease all over me, from the roof to the cellar, from the brisket to the backbone. Got over it to a degree after I'd cut out the dynamite dinners, after I'd put a yellow flag in front of every dynamite joint I knew, but never fully recovered until I had climbed to the top of the water wagon and made up my mind to stay there or die, knowing I'd die if I didn't. Avoid logwood, and India rubber chickens as you would the pestilence. Exercise, eat plainly, and get a seat on the water wagon where there's no danger of being toppled off. Sure cure and costs less, too than a doctor's prescription."

His Statement a Strong One.

Not long ago a party of statesmen—it seems fashionable to call them that—were down in Porto Rico. Congressman J. R. Mann of Illinois was one of the lot. Not long after they landed a native came up to Mann. "Mighty glad to meet you, sir," said he. "I've read every one of your speeches in the house." "Great Scott!" broke in Vice-President Sherman, "I'm glad to meet you. You must be the busiest man in the West Indies."

Letter to Mr. J. D. Donnohue, Sedalia, Missouri.

Dear Sir: The way to reckon the cost of paint is to put both costs together; the cost of the paint and the cost of putting it on.

It would save this country hundreds of millions of dollars a year; it would save you alone (if you happen to be a victim) several dollars a year.

See how it works. It costs as much to put on one paint as another, don't it?

Yes, if you use the same number of gallons.

Well, don't I?

No, you'll use twice as many gallons of adulterated paint as of Devoe; and you've gat to pay twice as much for putting it on.

Mr. N. Avery, Delhi, N. Y., has two houses alike and in same condition. Painted one house with Devoe; 6 gallons. Painted the other house with a paint that was half adulteration; 12 gallons. Same painter, Geo. Gilbert, did both jobs. One cost $27; the other $54.

Better go by the name.

Yours truly.

ONE CONDUCTOR WHO WAS CURED.

Mr. Wilford Adams is his name, and he writes about it.—"Some time ago I was confined to my bed with chronic rheumatism. I used two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy with good effect, and the third bottle put me on my feet and I resumed work as conductor on the Lexington, Ky., Street Railway. It gave me more relief than any medicine I had ever used, and it will do all you claim in cases of rheumatism." Foley's Kidney Remedy cures rheumatism by eliminating the uric acid from the blood. DREAM OF JUDEA

DR. SYRKIN, SOCIALIST, SAYS THAT A NEW JERUSALEM IS BOUND TO COME.

WILL ESTABLISH A NEW NATION

Believes That the Time Is Not Far Distant When the Jews Will Once Again Have a Country of Their Own.

Kansas City, Mo., April 1.—"The time is coming when the Jews will be a great nation again and their flag wil fly over Palestine, which will be owned by the Jews, a great free country with universal brotherhood and cooperation throughout the land."

Dr. N. Syrkin, the head of the movement to bring the Jews back to Palestine, and author of many socialistic, economic and political works, made this statement yesterday while talking to a visitor in this city.

Dr. Syrkin is a Russian Jew by birth, but spent nearly all his life in Berlin, Germany, twenty years as a student and teacher in the University of Berlin.

His works on socialistic and economic subjects are used as authorities by the followers of these subjects. He is a close friend of Israel Zangwill, the author, and of Prof. Franz Oppenheimer, the economic authority.

He is in Kansas City to address his race at the Jewish Educational institute, Admiral boulevard and Harrison street, on "What Modern Nationalism Is."

The great dream of his life is to see a new Judea. And he believes he will live to see it.

"There are 100,000 Jews in Palestine today," he said, "and the majority of them are prosperous farmers. They work on the cooperative plan and are rapidly forging ahead. The movement to create a nation where was the old and glorious one is the salvation of the starving, downtrodden Jew today. In Russia, Germany, Poland and France, and in the eastern part of the United States there are hundreds of thousands of my people in the direst poverty.

"They need help. It would be a saving of untold misery if we could get them back to the home of their fathers. The rich Jew in this country, or any other, would probably not go back now. But in the coming years when Judea is again a great nation it will be different.

"Two thousand years ago the Jews were scattered by imperial Rome. It is not the payment of a debt to a Deity that keeps them apart. It is from purely historical and political causes. Of all the nations that send their children to this country the Jew alone retains his national characteristics. We will always retain them until once more we are a nation.

"There are many great and powerful men in this movement throughout the world and we will succeed. Prof. Appenheim is in Palestine now studying the situation and preparing for the general influx of my people."

Dr. Syrkin will talk tonight at the Jewish Educationa institute.

TAKING THE WHOLE COUNTRY BY STORM

The new remedy is a recent discovery, but it is taking the whole country by storm. It has cured so many people throughout the state within the past few months that scores of newspapers are publishing local testimonials, giving names, streets and numbers of many people whose word cannot be doubted. The remedy certainly must have remarkable merit as so many people after using it a short while are advising their sick friends to try it. The Greensburg, Indiana, Daily Review recently published the following: Mr. J. W. Boyle, of 116 East Washington street, said: "My wife has been taking Root Juice and it has done wonders for her. Before taking it she had a very bad stomach. The lightest food would sour on her stomach and cause it to burn and pain her very much. In fact, she said she felt like it was raw from top to bottom. Recently her trouble was aggravated by an attack of la grippe. Her appetite was very poor, but after taking the Root Juice a few days she had a good appetite and could digest everything she ate without the least pain or inconvenience. She is no longer weak and nervous, and seems like a new woman. The remedy has proved a wonderful blessing o her." In fact, new remedy and telling about its great soothing, healing and tonic qualities to the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys that it is now hard for the Root Juice people to make it fast enough to fill all orders. It is retailed for one dollar a bottle. Many local peope have tessified to its wonderful merits, as any one can learn by going to Wilcox' drug store.

AMUSEMENTS

AT WOOD'S OPERA HOUSE.

George Arliss in "Septimus."

All of Harrison Grey Fiske's productions are beautiful when the opportunity offers, and none of them are ever lacking in good taste or in that artistic touch which shows studious care of detail. His new production of "Septimus" is characteristically fine. The play will be seen here at Wood's opera house Saturday, April 2, with George Arliss, the famous character actor, in the title role. The "Nook" at Nunsmere, delightfully described by Locke in "Septimus," has lost none of its freshness of atmosphere or picturesqueness as placed on the stage. The "Den," the quaint room in Septimus' house with the world of antastic inventions from his brain, is an unusual expression of detail in stage setting. George Arliss, the great character actor, is credited with one of the greatest achievements of his career in the title role. He appears under the management of Harrison Grey Fiske, who staged the play and conducted the rehearsals. Mr. George Arliss is surrounded by an exceptionally good company, Miss Emily Stevens, Mrs. Fiske's cousin, being the leading lady. Sedalians will see the New York production, which played Kansas City last week and goes from Sedalia to St. Louis, where they play next week.

TWO MURDERERS ESCAPE

In Death Cage They File Bars and Gain Freedom.

Portsmouth, Va., April 1.—Thomas Noel and Elijan Rousse, two murderers awaiting removal to Richmond, where they were scheduled to be electrocuted, filed off the bars of the death cage of the Norfolk county jail and forcing their way through the roof, lowered themselves to the ground by means of blankets from the jail bunks, a height of three stories. A third prisoner for a lesser crime escaped with the men.

Shortly after the daring escape of the prisoners, J. H. Smith, a barber, was found stabbed to death, and it is thought at the hands of the fugitives.

Noel was sentenced to die for the killing of Depuy Sheriff Sykes, at Norfolk, last August, and his appeal is now in the hands of the supreme court. Bloodhounds are on the trail of the men.

THE STATES MONEY

State Treasurer Transfers Moneys to the School Fund.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 1.—The transactions of the state treasury for the month of March, as shown by the report of Treasurer James Cowgill, filed with Governor Hadley at the close of business yesterday, follows:

Balance on hand Feb. 28, $2,888,089.61; receipts during the month of March, $542,336.13; disbursements for March, $542,546.73; balance on hand March 31, $2,887,897.01.

This balance is held by the several depositories, as follows: In the treasury vaults, $13,252.26; in the Exchange bank, Jefferson City, $143,753.67; First National bank, Jefferson City, $143,261.30; German-American bank, St. Louis, $297,920.50; Mississippi Valley Trust Co., St. Louis, $2,138,749.41; National Bank of Commerce, Kansas City, $150,906.84.

The balance in the revenue fund on Feb. 28 was $644,334.87, and at the close of business yesterday was $451,427.85. The decrease in this fund was largely due to the transfer of money to the school moneys. The balance in the school moneys now aggregates $1,468,506.19.

The earnings of the Missouri penitentiary for the month were $29,864.60, and the disbursements for the month were $29,802.76. There is a balance in the game protection fund of $68,621.06, and the balance in the good roads fund, arising from the licensing of automobiles and drivers, is $14,256.26.

SAVED THE LIFE OF OMAHA THEATRICAL MANAGER

Adam Bonoff, manager of the Krug theater in Omaha, Neb., and living at 1511 North Seventeenth street, that city, in a staement given for publication, says:

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for the past ten years, and had to avoid pastry, potatoes and all starchy food. I was nervous and restless, rarely ever getting a good night's sleep. I always awoke with a dull pain in my stomach, and belched gas frequently. I was constipated all the time.

"I traveled considerably in search of health, and treated with the best physicians in New York, Chicago and Hot Springs without relief, and finally was compelled to give up my business, as I thought, for good.

"A friend recommended Cooper's New Discovery to me. I was desperate, and decided to give it a trial Am now feeling fine, eating and sleeping well, without any signs of stomach trouble, weighing more than at any other period of my life, having gained fifteen pounds in a few weeks' time. It is a duty with me to recommend Cooper's New Discovery, for I believe it saved my life."

We sell Cooper's New Discovery, the medicine recommended by Mr. Bonoff. It has a remarkable record, and has a tremendous sale throughout the country. We will take pleasure in explaining its nature to you.—W. E. Bard Drug Co.

NO TREATING ALLOWED

East Orange Social Organization With a New Rule Today.

East Orange, N. J., April 1.—Tight wads of the Oranges are flocking to join the new City club, which begins its existence today as the successor of the Orange club.

The popularity of the new club among the no-give-ups is due to the establishment by the house committee of the no-treating rule, which has met with such success in the Westmoreland club in Pittsburg. This rule is to be relaxed on only one night of the year, on which occasion the members will be permitted to treat to their hearts' content. The dues are $24 a year, which is $16 less than those of the Orange club.

The managers say the real purpose of the no-treating rule is not to limit the expenditures of the members for beverages, but rather to preserve a quiet time.

For Your Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You To Prove At Our Risk

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, it is understood that in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

When the roots of the hair are entirely dead and the pores of the scalp are glazed over, we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth.

When Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will do as above stated, it is not strange that we have such great faith in it and that we claim it will prevent baldness when used in time. It acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us and without question or formality, we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it.

We lend our endorsement to Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and sell it on this guarantee because we believe it is the best hair tonic ever discovered. It comes in two sizes, price 50c and $1. Remember you can obtain it only at our store—The Rexall Store. Dan Wilcox.

W. F. Ervin, the Horseman, Has Secured Horses That Will Go.

W. F. Ervin, the well known trainer at the Sedalia state fair grounds, visited Colman's stock farm one day last week, says Colman's Rural World, and after driving a number of the horses selected Axtellit 42922, and Mondella, 2:18¼, to be added to his string of racers. Axtellit has not a record, but has great natural speed and he comes honestly by it, as his sire, Axtell 2:12, at three years to high wheels, was the champion of his age for many years. That he has proved to be a great sire we need only to refer to the Year Book to see what he has done. He is the sire of Home Circle 2:07, Ozanam 2:07, Eloree 2:8½, Ax 2:09¼, Mainland 2:09¼, Praytell 2:09½, and 122 other performers in 2:30 and better. He is also the sire of the dams of Main sheet 2:05, Margaret O 2:05¼, Chase 2:07¼, George Muscovite 2:08¼ Red Tell 2:08¼, and of forty-one others that are dams of 2:30 performers.

Axtellit is a large brown stallion, over sixteen hands high, levelheaded and has great trotting speed. Mondella has shown by her record of 2:18¼ that she is a trotter. She is by Red Roy 2:15¾, her dam Molyta is by Acolyte 2:21, son of Onward, and Acolyte's dam by Almont, son of Alexander Abdallah, sire of Goldsmith's Maid, and her breeding is rich for many generations back.

Honor for a Sedalian.

AN UP-TO-DATE DRUGGIST

Says it is surprising how many old fashioned remedies are being used which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers old, time-tried remedies. For instance for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy nothing equaling our grandmothers' "sage tea" has ever been discovered. Although by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the tea for ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50c and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Compan, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

AN EX JUDGE SURRENDERS

Says He Will Not Ask Mercy—indicted for Giving Bribes.

Columbus, O., April 1.—John T Gale, president of the Ruggles-Gale Co., of Columbus, a former probate judge, who was indicted Wednesday on three counts, charged with giving bribes to George E. Woods, applied at the court house yesterday to give himself up. He insisted on going to jail, saying that he would ask no man to go his bond.

Mr. Gale who is an old man, has been fighting his partners in the company for a long time and finally gained control. He declares he will not seek immunity nor ask mercy from any one. He was placed in a cell, where he sat nervously smoking a cigar.

"I consider this indictment a conviction and it is now up to the court to sentence me," he said.

The former judge was indicted for alleged bribery, amounting to about $345, and including scores of small amounts.

"SICKNESS AND HEALTH"

Sermon of Interest to Doctors at Congregational Church Sunday Night.

The Rev. Harold Cooper, pastor of the First Congregational church of this city, has announced an unusual and interesting topic for the service next Sunday night. According to the window cards which have been circulated the subject will be, "Sickness and Health, or the Church and Medical Practice." A special invitation has been given to quacks, for under the window card announcement in large letters are the words, "Quacks Invited." Mr. Cooper will discuss the relation of prayer to healing and also the relation of the church to the medical profession. This service promises to be a very interesting one, and many would like to know just what the minister will say on this unusual topic. This will be on Sunday night, April 3.

WHITE SLAVER FREED

Judge Philips Released Henry Lair on Habeas Corpus.

Leavenworth, Kas., April 1.—Henry Lair, of San Francisco, after serving thirteen months of a two-year sentence in the federal penitentiary here, which was imposed by Judge Landis at Chicago, for engaging in the white slave traffic, was released today on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Federal Judge Philips, of Kansas City.

Judge Philips in his decision sustained the contention of Lair's attorneys, to the effect that Judge Landis had no jurisdiction in the case. Lair was convicted of importing Marie Peuroy from France and selling her in Chicago on his way home to San Francisco.

HIT BY M. B. COLEMAN

L. P. Cobb's Buggy Was at 8:30 O'clock Last Night.

L. P. Cobb, employed by the owner of the Cohen Junk Co., while riding in a one-horse vehicle with his wife and four children, the oldest aged 10 and the youngest aged 3, in the vicinity of Grand avenue and Main street, at 8:30 o'clock last night, was struck by M. B. Coleman's automobile, driven by the owner.

According to Mr. Coleman he was traveling only four miles an hour, while others say he was going twenty miles an hour.

The only person injured was Georgia Cobb, a 3-year-old boy, who was bruised and scratched about the face. The vehicle was smashed and the horse painfully injured, while the automobile suffered a slight damage.

Zion Receivership Ends.

Chicago, April 1.—The receivership of the estate of Zion, the city founded by the late "Prophet" Dowie, is scheduled to be wound up today. It is expected that the report of Receiver Thomas will show all assets clear of incumbrance and worth $400,000, which would make claims worth 29 cents on the dollar.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

NEAT SCHEME OF REVENGE

Will Made by Maiden Lady Will Cause Her to Be Long if Not Gratefully Remembered.

An extraordinary will has been left by an elderly unmarried lady who recently died in Vienna. Her property, amounting to about $250,000, is appointed to be divided between her three nephews, now aged 24, 27 and 29, and her three nieces, aged 19, 21 and 22, in equal parts on the following conditions:

The six nephews and nieces must all live in the house formerly inhabited by their aunt, with the executor, a lawyer, whose business it will be to see that the conditions of the will are strictly observed. None of the nephews is to marry before reaching his fortieth year, nor the nieces before their thirtieth, under the penalty that the share of the one so marrying will be divided among the others.

Further, the six legatees are admonished never to quarrel among themselves. If one should do so persistently the executor is empowered to turn him or her out of the house and divide the share as in the case of marriage.

The executor is himself forbidden to marry or to reside elsewhere than in the house with the legatees as long as he holds his office, to which a handsome remuneration is attached.

The old maid is said to have made this peculiar will because her nephews and nieces continually worried her during her life by asking her to give them money to enable them to marry—requests she always refused.

NEWS OF THE RAIL

SOUTHERN RAILROAD WILL PROBABLY AGREE TO DEMANDS OF ITS MEN.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

Washington, April 1.—There is no danger of a strike in any department of the Southern railway, which is now conferring with several branches of its employes, according to information obtained from a responsible source today. The discussion of wages and conditions of employment between the road and the telegraphers, it was said, was progressing amicably toward a final settlement, with every prospect of an agreement being reached very soon. Both the representatives of the railroad and the telegraphers are now engaged in collecting data preparatory to a meeting to be held here within a day or two.

The railroad also is discussing wages and rule agreements with its maintenance of way employes and shopmen, and it was learned today that there was nothing in the way to prevent a satisfactory adjustment.

St. Paul Lines Grant Increase.

St. Paul, Minn., April 1—Switchmen of the northwest will get a raise of 3 cents an hour, beginning Friday, according to an official announcement made by the St. Paul railroads. This increase, officials say, is made in accordance with the award given by the board of arbitration, which recently settled the differences between the switchmen and the general managers' committee in Chicago. They assert that the idea in giving additional pay is purely for the purpose of giving the men here as much as they are getting in other parts of the country.

Fireman Lost an Arm.

Frank Rains, an M., K. & T. fireman of this city, fell under the wheels of a caboose in front of the company's passenger station in this city at 5:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon, injuring his right arm so badly that it became necessary to amputate the member three inches below the shoulder.

He was removed to the company hospital. A telephone message from that institution this afternoon stated that he was resting nicely, the surgeons denying the street rumor that he had died.

Refuse 6 Per Cent Raise.

New York, April 1.—The Erie railroad company yesterday offered all its employes now receiving less than $300 a month an increase of 6 per cent in wages provided the original demands made by the men would be withdrawn. Representatives of the men refused to accept and stated that the original demands would be insisted on.

NO DELAY EXPECTED

Attorneys in Hyde Murder Case Say They Are Ready.

Kansas City, Mo., April 1.—That there will be no delay in the trial of Dr. B. Clark Hyde, charged with the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swope, was the assurance given by Henry Jost, assistant prosecuting attorney, yesterday. Mr. Jost said that the state would be ready for the trial on April 11, and that he had been assured by the attorneys for Dr. Hyde that they would be ready also. When application for the release of Dr. Hyde on bond was made after his arrest on the indictments it was on the agreement of all of the attorneys concerned that there would be a speedy trial.

Dr. Hyde's attorneys have asserted that they would be ready for trial, and with the statemen of Mr. Jost yesterday, it is believed that there will be no delay.

The extended inquiry by the grand jury enabled the prosecutor to obtain much information that he otherwise would have had difficulty in securing. On the other hand the attorneys for Dr. Hyde through the libel suit against Mr. Paxton have learned about how much knowledge the state's witnesses have.

The prosecutor will devote all of next week to his preparation of the case. The special venire of 200 names from which the jury is to be chosen will be drawn from the big jury wheel a week from today. It is expected that it will take a week for the examination of the jury.

There will be no depositions in the case of Dr. Hyde against Mr. Paxton until Monday. Notary Kelley said that he was ill and needed a little rest and asked the attorneys if they would agree to an adjournment until that time.

SERVICES TONIGHT

Preparatory Service Before Conference at Presbyterian Church.

The preparatory service before the quarterly conference at the Broadway Presbyterian church will be held tonight.

Next Sunday night the pastor, the Rev. D. M. Clagett, will preach a special sermon to young people, the subject being "The Man Moody Thought Most Like Christ."

This is the third sermon in a series given the first Sabbath evenings of the month under the general subject, "Heroes in God's Hall of Fame," the two preceding ones being "Dr. Grenfell of Labrador" and "S. H. Hadley of the New York Slums."

On account of Mr. Clagett's removal from Sedalia the last of April the sermon Sunday night will close the series.

Everyone, old and young, will be welcome.

Suit for Divorce Filed.

Jefferson Johnson, a negro, through Attorney Phillips, today sued his wife, Jeanette Johnson, for divorce, alleging desertion.

Saloon Thought No. 355

A MISTAKE.

We have heard that "liquor won't hurt you if you let liquor alone," but Michael Brennon, conductor on an Ogden avenue and Wells street car, Chicago, who was shot by a drink-crazed passenger while standing on the platform of his car Thursday, March 17, and died the same day, will scarcely serve as an effective illustration for the champions of this threadbare fallacy.

Do you think the mourning family of that train crew in Maryland who were shot down by a drunken murderer would believe "That liquor won't hurt you if you let it alone." Were these families fooling with liquor when they took these three bodies home with a bullet through their heart?

No Fire-Water for Them.

Nez Perces county, Idaho, voted for prohibition March 9 by nearly 1,000 majority. Lewiston (population 7,115), the county seat, has had fifteen saloons and a large brewery. One of the striking features of this campaign was the participation of the Nez Perces Indians, a large portion of whom are new voters, and who voted "dry" almost to a man. The work of United States Special Agent William E. Johnson in this district was a strong factor in bringing about the election. Nez Perces reservation is located within the boundaries of this county. Bonner county will vote on prohibition early in May.

Bpffalo Jones, of Arizona, Making a Record Himself.

New York, April 1.——A cablegram from Nairobi, British East Africa, the Buffalo Jones, the Arizona plainsman, who headed a party to Africa, the scene of Theodore Roosevelt's hunting evploits, where it is now engeged in lassoing wild animals instead of slaying them, was received today by F. W. Bird, a lawyer, at No. 31 Nassau street.

According to the telegram the venture is proving a success.

Buffalo Jones says he and his associates have lassoed a number of rinos, giraffes, leopards, cheetas and other animals, all of which will be shipped to the United States.

One rhino bull is reported to have charged the photographer and other members of the party scores of times, but no one was injured. Te country of the lion and buffalo will be invaded this week and several captures of importance are expected. Buffalo says he gets 'em every throw.

In the expedition, which is financed by Charles S. Bird, a wealthy manufacturer of East Walpole, Mass., are Guy H. Scull, a Harvard man; Marshall D. Loveace, a cattle man of Roswell, Ariz.; Ambroze I. Means, a cow puncher of southern Arizona, and Arthur A. Fowler, an iron merchant and hunter.

FROM OLD LONDON

NEWS AND VIEWS IN THE GREAT CAPITAL OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

THE LORDS WERE UP IN ARMS

Earls, One 92, the Other 85, Made Vigorous Speeches in Behalf of Their Ancient Privileges—Other English Gossip.

London, April 1.—While the clouds in the political storm have not all disappeared by any means, the opinion that none of the parties are anxious for another general election grows apace. The government is in no consuming haste to appeal to the country, for Mr. Asquith and his followers have come to realize that they have made a false start in including in their program reform of the house of lords, the effect of which has given the lords a tactical advantage. Had the administration stuck to the veto, the issue between the government and the lords would have been very simple. The tories are not anxious for a general election for the simple reason that their prospects have improved in no way since the recent appeal to the country, and the other parties for sufficiently good reasons are willing to let matters take their own course for a while.

Those who witnessed the introduction by Lord Roseberry of his resolutions for reforming the lords will not forget soon the picturesque figures of the Earl of Halsbury and the Earl of Weymss, whose resolute pugnacity in fighting for their hereditary right prevented Lord Roseberry's third resolution from going through unanimously. These two champions led the old guard, and the discourse of the Earl of Weymss was particularly vigorous, despite his 92 years. Age has placed a light hand upon his brow, and besides taking an active part in parliamentary affairs, the earl has been prominently identified for many years with the National Rifle association.

The Earl of Halsbury is so young and virile at 85 that he recently voluntarily returned to the judicial bench to relieve a sick judge.

The most anomalous fact in connection with the budget is tha while the exchequer is borrowing to make good the growing shortage, which already exceeds $100,000,000, money set aside for taxation purposes is accumulating in the English banks. This money will not be paid until a budget is definitely passed; but since no one may surely know at what moment that event may happen, the banks are necessarily cautious in lending out such deposits, except on very short time. Almost the only quarter in which just such disposition of the deposits can be made is on the stock exchange. The perfectly natural result therefore has been a superabundance of money placed at the temporary disposal of borrowers for speculation; and here is one of the most interesting explanations of the outburt of speculation in shares of mines and oil companies and rubber companies, which has already become a sensational incident in the London market.

When one reflects that the solution of this extraordinary dilemma rests wholly on the policies, which, for purposes of political strategy, may be adopted by the factions in the house of commons, it will be seen how unusual a situation has arisen.

So recklessly have some people flung themselves into the great rubber gamble on the stock exchange that they have found themselves in a hopeless tangle when they wanted to know exactly how they stood. There is an authentic case of one professional speculator who was in a state of desperation when settling day came around, because he had so muddled the accounts relating to his innumerable dealings that he appeared to be nearly £50,000 to the bad. It was only after being induced to allow his assistants, whose heads were clearer than his own, to look into his affairs, that he learned that in reality he had made a substantial profit on his transactions. This is only one illustration of the many that could be given of the random nature of the speculation that is going on.

There is a remarkable scarcity of positions in London for teachers, and as a result, according to recent statistics, nearly 1,200 persons who have been especially fitted for this work are without assignments. They have been educated according to the required standard and given the customary guarantee that they would serve as teachers for five years, but now find that there are no vacancies in the schools for them.

Investigations show that it will be two years in all probability before berths can be found for these educators. Many have been out of employment for three months already, while over 300 others have taken situations abroad or have adopted different ways of earning a livelihood.

The various women's clubs and philanthropic organizations of London have joined forces in trying to down white slave traffic. It has been found that much of this nefarious business is conducted through alleged theatrical agencies, which employ young girls and sends them to other cities, ostensibly to secure positions on the stage, but where in reality they are received by confederates of the agencies and subjected to the vilest indignities.

Being strangers, and in many instances not knowing the language of

ON APRIL FOOL DAY

Chicago Street Cars Changed Place of Stopping on Corners.

Chicago, April 1.—"All Fools' day" was appropriately observed in Chicago today by a change in the street car traffic rules, by which the cars stop at the near instead of the far corners. Thousands of people were fooled most effectively.

The plan of having cars stop on the near corner is not a new one. It was tried here about fifteen years ago, and was then abandoned in response to the pleadings of car patrons, that they could not learn new habits.

It is claimed that the new system will expedite the handling of cars, and will prevent congestion during the rush hours.

New Firms for Webb City.

Webb City, Mo., April 1.—Two new enterprises are seeking entrance at the doors of Webb City, and the chances are that both of them will be admitted. The Telepost company has requesed information with a view to establishing a station here. The other enterprise is a wood-work plant which will manufacture sash, blinds and indoor finishings. The promters are from Saginaw Mich., and contemplate the building of a factory near the timber district of the Ozarks. Committees have been appointed to treat with the representatives of both enterprises.

Has Old Tax Receipt.

Montgomery City, Mo., April 1.—A. H. Kallmeyer, of this city, is the possessor of an interesting relic of ante-bellum days, a tax receipt issued to his father in 1855 by the collector of St. Charles county. It certifies to the payment of $5.60 tax imposed for railroad construction. The receipt was headed "North Missouri Railroad." Taxpayers gladly submitted to the heavy assessment in these days, and this tax represents the pro rata of a bonus endered that railroad.

Japs Must Register.

San Francisco, April 1.—All Japanese residents of San Francisco will be required to register at the office of the consul-general, the ruling becoming effective today. The purpose of the registration is to facilitate the collection of accurate statistics regarding immigration and emigration.

Manchurian Posts Pact.

Tokio, April 1.—The postal agreement between Japan and China, based on Postal Union rules, and chiefly affecting Manchuria, went into effect today.

China, by its terms, regains its monopoly of mail carrying on its own railway, together with equal rights over the Japanese railroad. China recognizes all of the Japanese treaty-port postoffices and also six exchange offices in the treaty marts of Manchuria. Provision is made for relations with other Japanese postoffices in Manchuria, in accordance with local conditions. China considers the agreement advantageous.

EXFRESS CONPANIES FIGHT

Two of Them Will Become Competitors for Transcontinental Business.

San Francisco, Cal., April 1.—Beginning today two express companies, the American and the Pacific, enter into competition for the transcontinental business to and from the coast, which for some time has been handled almost entirely by the Wells-Fargo.

Today the Pacific Expres company begins its operation over the Western Pacific. With the Missouri Pacific to Pueblo, the Denver & Rio Grande to Salt Lake City and the Western Pacific from there to the Golden Gate, it has a complete through route. This will enable the company to handle not only the California business, but that of the coast and the Orient through the Pacific steamship lines.

The American Express company supplements the Pacific on the Union Pacific today, thus placing this company on an equal footinñ for the Pacific coast business. This is the first time that the American has been able to get to the Pacific, although it operates over a number of eastern railroads. The American has reached a few points in Wyoming and the other western states, but its advent on the Union Pacific furnished its first through line.

The Pacific Express company operates over 23,000 miles of railroad, on which it has exclusive rights. This includes the entire Gould system. The company maintains in the neighborhood of 2,500 offices.

Catarrh Germs

Move Out When Hyomei Moves In

No stomach dosing. Hyomei is made chiefly of oil of eucalyptus and eucalytol taken from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia, and combined with the excellent antiseptics employed in the Listerian system.

In inland Australia the atmosphere is so impregnated with balsam thrown out by the eucalyptus tree that germs cannot live, and in consequence catarrh and consumption are unknown.

Breathe Hyomei and get the same pleasant germ killing air as you would get in the eucalyptus forests.

Hyomei is sold by druggists everywhere and by W. E. Bard Drug Co. at $1.00 a complete outfit.

An outfit consists of a bottle of Hyomei, a hard rubber pocket inhaler and full instructions for use. The inhaler lasts a lifetime, but if you need another bottle of Hyomei you can get it at druggists for only 50 cents at any time. Guaranteed to cure catarrh, croup and throat troubles or money back. Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Adventures of Mr. Joy Rider

By T. D. SKIDMORE.

APPEALED ON HIS RECORD

Happenings of the Past That Convinced Squire of the Honesty of the Plaintiff.

Miss Lydia Conley, a Wyandotte girl, is the only Indian woman lawyer in the world. At Kansas City, anent a recent Indian case that she conducted, she told an interesting legal story.

"So I put my man on the stand," she said. "That, if your case is a just one, is always the thing to do. You know the story of the Kansas land claimant?

"Well, out here, many years ago, a man brought suit before the squire to recover some land that had been outrageonsly filched from him. His case was a good one, but the other side had doctored its witnesses—had even doctored the plaintiff's witnesses, too—and—up to the time when he took the stand himself not a jot or tittle of testimoney in his favor had been recorded.

"He, as soon as he was sworn, turned to the justice and said:

"'Squire, I brought this suit, and yet the evidence excepting my own, is all against me. Now, I don't accuse anyone of lying, squire, but these witnesses are the most mistaken lot of fellows I ever saw. You know me, squire. Two years ago you sold me a hoss for sound that was as blind as a bat. I made the deal and stuck to it, and this is the first time I have mentioned it. When you used to buy my grain, squire, you stood on the scales when the empty wagon was weighed, but I never said a word. Now, do you think I am the kind of a man to kick up a rumpus and sue a fellow unless he has done me a real wrong? Why, squire, if you'll recall that sheep speculation you and me—'

"But at this point the squire, very red in the face, hastily decided the case in the plaintiff's favor."

WHAT PUZZLES THE SENATOR

Statesman Wants to Know Why Cats Discriminated Against Cross-Eyed Brother.

A senator came into the cloakroom in a rather pensive mood and stood silent for some minutes—thoughtfully smoking. It was supposed that some problem of legislation lay heavy on his mind, until he broke the silence, without even a prelude:

"I have been bothered with rats and it makes me nervous because I have been reading so much about the bubonic plague. We had six cats in the house, but suddenly five left, leaving a lonesome Tabby. I tried a ball of yarn on him. Every time he jumped after that ball he struck wide of the mark. Then I caught him, looked closer at him and, behold, the cat was cross-eyed!

"What puzzles me now is to decide whether or not there is an aristocracy of cat life into which a crooked-eyed cat cannot come. He was evidently an outcast and a pariah with his kind, for he carefully kept his corner all the time the other cats were around. Now, the rats left with the cats, and what I want to know is whether there is not some feeling of caste among rats as well as cats in refusing to even associate with a cross-eyed cat. No bubonic plague, gentlemen, with cross-eyed cats available. It's in the old Hindu Hoodoo book."—National Magazine.

Scion of the "Old Elm."

It has been decided that the elm tree growing within an enclosure in Boston common is not a scion of the "old elm," as practically every one had supposed.

The committee appointed to investigate consisted of William C. Bates, Thomas W. Silloway and Charles F. Read and their finding is that the present elm was brought from a nursery in Dorchester and planted on the site of the "old elm" tree by City Forester John Galvin. However, they find that there is a real scion of the old tree that grew from the foot of the original elm and was set out about fifty-three feet from it and is in a flourishing condition. Another scion is growing near the Soldiers' monument. This tree was propagated from a cutting by Thomas S. Adams, an old-time policeman, and it was transplanted during the administration of Mayor Hart.—Boston Transcript.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

COLUMBIA MARCHING SONG

University in New York Has Adopted Words—Now Want Music.

New York, April 1.—Columbia university's new marching song, the words for which were written by John Erskine, professor of English, will soon be set to music. The alumni have offered $50 for the best air composed for the words and several musicians have entered the contest, which closes today.

The last verse of the song is as follows:

They are sitting down and dreaming,
are some folks we needn't name,
Of their dead and gone forefathers,
who gave them all their fame;
But we've more and better fellows
than we've ever had before,
And we're marching toward tomorrow, that will give us plenty more

This verse is said to refer to some American colleges which are living solely on their past achievments.

HOW TO CURE ECZEMA, PIMPLES AND DANDRUFF.

We desire to say that when we took the agency for ZEMO, we were convinced that it was a valuable remedy for Eczema, pimples and dandruff. Yet, we must frankly admit that Zemo has far exceeded our expectations as a treatment for skin diseases. We are pleased to state that we shall continue the agency as ZEMO has given splendid results wherever recommended. Our customers like ZEMO too, because it is a clean vegetable liquid for external use.

ZEMO effects its cures by drawing to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease, leaving the skin clear and healthy. It does not soil the clothing or linen and can be used freely on infants.

With every purchase, we give a booklet on skin diseases, explaining in simple words how any person can be cured at home of any form of skin or scalp diseases by this clean, scientific remedy.—Dan Wilcox, Druggist.

While the stock is being offered to local investors none is solicited on the principal of a bonus, as J. H. Swindler, the president of the enterprise, has the matter well in hand. The company expects to build an incubator with a capacity of three thousand eggs and, in addition to the various colony houses and breeding pens, an experiment station will be maintained.

TO SAVE THE SEALS

President Takes the Lead in Protecting Sea Lions From Exermination

Washington, April 1.—President Taft has taken the lead in a movement to save the seals on the Alaskan islands of St. Paul and St. George, where the hunting rights granted the North American Commercial company expire today. The company has the privilege of renewing its hunting lease for another twenty years, but the president has asked congress to repeal the contract.

Twelve years ago the herds there numbered 375,000, and they have been reduced to 134,000, while the breeding seals have been reduced in the same time from 130,000 to 56,000. The president declares that such a condition is the result of pelagic sealing, which the government has been unable to stop.

Look Out—April Fool's Day.

If you trip on a string, kick an old hat with a brick in it or go on some folish errand today, don't get angry. Just remember that you were a kid yourself once and indulged in these same jokes. In fact, the April Fool joke, like many other jokes of the present day, was first sprung in the days of our prehistoric ancestors.

Some claim that the custom of playing practical jokes on April 1 had its origin in the Miracle play, formerly produced at Easter. The characters in the play represented the sending of Christ from Annas to Caiaphas and from Pilate to Herod. It has been traced back still further, however, to an ancient pagan festival where similar tricks were played, such as the Hull festival of the Hindus, or the Feast of Fools celebrated by the Romans.

In France the victim of an April Fool's day joke is called an April Fish, and in Scotland a gowk or cuckoo.

H. RODEMAN DEAD

ONE OF SEDALIA'S BEST KNOWN BUSINESS MEN PASSED AWAY TODAY.

FINAL SUMMONS CAME AT NEVADA

Had Been a Sufferer From Fatal Ailment for Nearly Two Years and All Efforts Toward Recovery Were Unavailing.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

H. H. Rodeman, familiarly known to everyone in Sedalia as "Hank" Rodeman, died this morning at a sanitarium at Nevada, Mo., after a lingering illness of over two years. He was a single man, 38 years of age.

Mr. Rodeman began life in this city many years ago and was first employed by M. M. Stevenson in his retail market as a delivery boy. He continued with Mr. Stevenson for many years, gradually working up, until while Mr. Stevenson took a lengthy sojourn in the west, he was placed in full control of the business.

So well did he conduct its affairs that when Mr. Stevenson returned he presented Mr. Rodeman with a fourth interest.

This connection was continued up to and after the establishment of the Stevenson Packing Co. Mr. Rodeman being in charge of the retail end of the business. About five or six years ago Mr. Rodeman sold his interest to Mr. Stevenson and retired. He afterwards established the retail market at the corner of Ohio and Seventh street, which is still being conducted.

About two years ago Mr. Rodeman became afflicted with a nervous disease, and after the efforts of local physicians had failed he was taken to various institutions for treatment. Every effort was made to overcome the dread malady that had attacked him, but they were of no avail, and for some months it has been known that the end was only a question of time.

The deceased was a member of Sedalia Lodge No. 125 B. P. O. E., and Sedalia Council No. 831, Knights of Columbus, and was very popular among the members of both orders as well as with all with whom he came in contact either in business or a social way.

He is survived by his father, John Rodeman, of Jefferson City; two brothers, J. P. Rodeman, of Sedalia, and Frank Rodeman, of St. Louis, and a sister, Miss Mary Rodeman, of Jefferson City.

Funeral arrangements have not been made as yet, but it is understood that burial will be in Jefferson City.

The sad and untimely death of this popular Sedalian will be mourned throughout the city.

MARRIED IN VIRGINIA

Former Sedalian Weds at Richmond on March 23.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Mrs. Florence Anderson, of 1002 South Vermont avenue, received information Wednesday telling of the marriage of her brother, Frank M. Kennedy, a former Sedalian, to Miss Lillian Crosby, of Richmond, Va., at her home in that city.

The wedding occurred on Wednesday, March 23.—Mr and Mrs. Kennedy ,who have been sweethearts for years, will make their future home at Monroe, La.

Mr. Kennedy for years resided in Sedalia with his sister. Later he lived at Marshall. For the past ten years he has been employed as traveling salesman for the Monroe Wholesale Grocery company, at Monroe.

He has a legion of friends in Pettis county, all of whom will learn of his marriage with pleasure, at the same time wishing the happy couple a long life of wedded bliss.

THREATENED A BANKER

Letter Received Demanded Money or Harm to Children Would Follow.

Princeton, Ind., March 31.—Francisco, a little town near here, is greatly aroused over the receipt by Dr. D. H. Swan, cashier of the bank there, of an unsigned letter demanding that he place $500 in a certain place near a designated telephone pole by 10:15 o'clock Wednesday night, and telling him that unless the money was found there as directed his children, three little girls, aged 2, 7 and 12, will be abducted and their eyes put out.

The threat further states that if Dr. Swan attempts to arrest or discover the identity of the writer when the money is procured he will be shot by one or the other of the three persons who are by the letter represented as making the demand.

One unusual feature is that the writer says the money will be paid back in October; that the doctor will be notified by letter where he will find it at that time. Postoffice and local authorities are working on the case, and special precautions are being taken to protect the little girls. The letter is generally regarded seriously. Swan is the leading business man of the town. The letter came through the postoffice and was mailed there.

ONCE LIVED HERE

CAPTAIN JOHN H. PARKER IS ASSIGNED TO KEMPER MILITARY SCHOOL.

ORDERS FROM WAR DEPARTMENT

Captain Parker is a Former Pettis County Boy. Having Been Reared Near Green Ridge—Appointed by J. Cosgrove.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Washington, March 30.—an order was issued at the war department today detailing Capt. John H. Parker, Twenty-eighth infantry, as professor of military science and tactics at Kemper military academy at Boonville, Mo. Capt. Parker's detail will begin September 1. He will succeed First Lieutenant William F. H. Godson, Tenth cavalry, who will join his regiment. Capt. Parker is directed to report to the superintendent of the Kemper school August 15.

Capt. Parker, above mentioned, is a Pettis county boy and received his early training on a farm near Green Ridge. He was appointed to West Point by Col. John Cosgrove, member of congress, in the early eighties, and graduated with high honors.

While yet a second lieutenant he was married in the Ohio Street Methodist church to Miss Ida Burr, daughter of Judge Burr, who at that day was a prime favorite in Sedalia social circles.

The wedding was a peculiar one—just such a one as never before was celebrated in Sedalia or any other town, the name of which graced a map.

The groom, bride, bridesmaid and the groom's best man were all redheaded—but the preacher who pronounced the ceremony was a brunette.

Captain Parker and Mrs. Parker have three children and the people of Boonville are to be congratulated on the acquisition of this family to the social circles of the city.

They have a son, a lad of tender years, a student at Kemper.

Captain Parker, still a lieutenant, served with distinguished honor in the Spanish-American war in 1898 and was promoted for gallantry, pronounced in its effect. He afterwards did duty in the Philippines.

A TREASURE HUNT

AMERICAN HAS APPLIED TO MEXICO FOR PERMISSION TO START A QUEST.

IS AFTER AZTEC EMPERORS HOARD

Has Document Which Indicates the Hiding Place of Gold and Precious Stones Belonging to Lost Race's Rulers.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

San Antonio, Tex., March 31.—T. A. Kenyon, an American, has applied to the Mexican government for permission to hunt for the treasures of the Aztec emperors, the whereabouts of which he claims to have discovered through an Aztec codex in is possession. In this document, which is claimed to deal exclusively with the hidden wealth, there is reference to pots of pure gold, solid gold chains, the diadems of the Montezumas and a fabulously rich necklace of gold and precious chalchiuhuites—the rarest of gems. According to Mr. Kenyon their hiding place is also indicated, being one of the many caves in the vicinity of Texococo.

So far the Mexican government has taken no action in the matter. Lic. Sierra, the secretary of public instruction, has advised Ing. Leopoldo Batres, inspector of archeological affairs, to take the case under consideration. A few days ago the latter and Mr. Kenyon had a conference at San Juan Teotihuacan, the results of which have as yet not been published. In the meantime the Aztec codex in question has been placed in the strongest vault in the City of Mexico.

In order to reach the cave in which the treasure is said to be hidden it will be necessary to drive a long tunnel in a mountain. Mr. Kenyon has offered the Mexican government all finds of archeological value that may be made, being content with the pots of gold and the gold chains as his share. In view of the fact that several capitalists are behind the venture it is surmised that the quantity of gold stored in the mountains must be tremendous. The treasure hunters themselves have been extremly rticnt on this point. The only statement they have made regarding the codex is that it is written on papyrus made from the maguey plant.

There is a great deal of historical data regarding this treasure. The Aztecs were expert gold miners and smiths and made jewelry of great beauty. The palaces of the Montezumas had many chambers the walls and ceilings of which were sheathed with gold, and even common cooking utensils in the kitchens are said to have been made of that material. After the taking of the city by the Spanish Cortez caused many ship loads of gold, silver and precious stones to be sent to Spain, although most of the treasure had even then disappeared. When the Aztec empire had fallen into the hands of the conquistadores they took up the hunt for the treasure with the lust for riches that characterized them and their conquests, but failed to locate it for the reason that the few who knew its whereabouts had either perished in the siege of the city or could not be rendered communicative. Those suspected of this intelligence were subjected to the most cruel tortures, but from them no information was extracted. It is now generally believed that the few oficials of the Aztec government who knew of the hinding place kept their secret in spite of all the tortures they suffered at the hands of the Spaniards.

That the treasure is still in existence is not doubted by those informed on the subject, but whether Mr. Kenyon's codex wil lead to their discovery is highly problamatical if not impossible. Similar papyrii have been found before, and while they in themselves were not spurious, their possessors had to discover that the information they imparted was nothing more than a feint.

THE NEW JUSTICE

PRESIDENT TAFT WILL NOT DELAY MAKING THE SELECTION FOR THE VACANCY.

WILL WAIT TILL FUNERAL'S OVER

There Are Many Names Mentioned for the High Position Occupied by the Late Justice Brewer of Supreme Court.

Washington, D. C., March 31.—The supreme court of the United States will not only convene Monday, but in all probability will remain in session throughout the day announcing decisions and hearing arguments in the Hertz inheritance tax case. At a later day memorial services will be held in honor of the late Justice Brewer.

The authoritative statement was made yesterday that in all probability the president will appoint a successor promptly to the late Justice Brewer. The importance of the business coming before the court in the president's opinion makes it imperative that the vacancy be filled at once.

The members of the supreme court have decided not to go to Leavenworth and attend the ceremonies there attendant upon the burial of their fellow member, the late Mr. Justice Brewer. Delay to the public business is the reason for this decision. The members will attend the ceremonies here.

In a statement given out today re-Leavenworth and the probable postne funeral, Chief Jusice Fuller says:

"In view of the time to be consumed in going and returning from report that legislative action would be ponement of the public business, the members of the court, after submitting the matter to Mrs. Brewer, have determined, with her entire approval not to go to Leavenworth. The court as a body will be present at the funeral ceremonies at the residence and as honorary pallbearers accompany the remains to the union station."

At the capitol today there was a rumor tha a bill would be inroduced in congress to allow Justice Moody to retire on a pension. The retirement of the Massachusetts justice would leave two vacancies for President Taft to fill.

Friends of the Jurist say he expects to resume his duties on the bench at next October's term, however. They confirm the reports that Justice Moody has suffered a nervous breakdown, complicated by a rheumatic attack, but they discount the report that legislaive acion would be taken looking toward his retirement.

"I believe there is no foundation for such a report," said Representative Gillett of Massachusetts.

The understanding in official circles last night was that President Taft will appoint Lloyd W. Bowers, solicitor general of the department of justice, to the place on the supreme court made vacant by the death of Justice Brewer. President Taft let it be known this afternoon that he had decided upon the man whom he will appoint, but out of courtesy to the memory of the late Justice Brewer, the president will make no announcement until after the funeral.

Mr. Bowers was an attorney in

KLING'S BIG FINE

CHICAGO CATCHER MUST PAY $700 IF HE GETS REINSTATED IN THE GAME.

HE REFUSED TO "PLAY BALL"

National Commission Holds That Owner of Club Should Show Cause Why He, Too, Should Not Be Disciplined.

Cincinnati, O., March 31.—John G. Kling, the premier catcher of the Chicago Nationals, will be reinstated in organized baseball on the payment of a fine of $700, according to the decision of the national commission, made public last night.

The decision was signed only by Chairman August Herrmann and Thomas J. Lynch, president of the National league. The name of B. B. Johnson, president of the American league, is missing.

The commission will require Chas. W. Murphy, president of the Chicago Nationals to show cause why he should not be fined at least $200 for violation of rule 47, which forbids a club to submit a new contract for any ineligible player.

Furthermore, the Chicago club will not be allowed to trade, sell or release Kling for one season, nor will it be permitted to pay Kling's fine, directly or indirectly, under a "severe" penalty.

Kling was not fined for his failure to report to the Chicago club nor for the violation of his contract, but solely for his connection with the Missouri Athletic club semi-professional team of Kansas City, and his playing with and against ineligible players during the time he was with that club.

Kling was fined $200 for "his action with reference to his connection with the Missouri Athletic club, and particularly in letting an ineligible player (Frazer) to participate in games with that club."

He will also be required to pay a fine of $200 for his violation of rule 47, and $200 additional for his violation of that rule in defiance of a notice from the commission not to do so.

Rule 47 says that no national agreement player will be perutted to participate in any game with or against clubs harboring ineligible players or whose owners or managers are ineligible players.

Kling will also be required to carry out the terms of his original contract which still has one more season to run. This called for a salary of $1,500 a year. The commission states that Kling's action can not be termed a "violation of contract," as it has been understood and accepted in baseball law.

In speaking of the leave of absence granted Kling by Murphy on April 26, 1909, the decision says that Murphy's statements are misleading. It says that the leave of absence has no bearing on the case, as "it was not one entered into or agreed upon in good faith.

The commission takes occasion to explain its action in reinstating Hal Chase, of the New York Nationals last season, saying it was not granted because of his ability as a player, but because there were many extenuating circumstances.

Kling Thinks Terms Severe.

Kansas City, Mo. March 31.—"Although the terms imposed by the national commission are pretty severe, I shall abide by them and it will af-

RULES FOR "RUBE"

ERRATIC BALL PLAYER WILL SOON TAKE A SECOND WIFE.

SHE WILL HOLD A TIGHT REIN

No "High Balls" Except on the Diamond and He Must "Steal Home" Just as Soon as the Game Is Ended.

St. Louis, Mo., March 31.—This will be the busiest summer in the history of George Edward (Rube) Waddell, the famous pitcher of the St. Louis Browns. He will be working in two leagues—the American and the matrimonial, under two managers and two sets of rules.

One of these sets of rules has already been laid down by President Hedges of the Browns. The other will be laid down by Miss Madge Maguire, who will become Mrs. Waddell on April 4.

If Rube lives up to the Hedges stipulations, he will be entitled to a $1,000 bonus at the end of the baseball season next fall; and if he sticks to the rules of the matrimonial league he will guarantee for himself a happy home.

This baseball sum of bonus, as well as this matrimonial summum bonum, is contingent upon one thing only—that Rube hold on tight to the water wagon, and ride it as gracefully hereafter as he has been doing ever since March 1, when he went into training with the Browns.

Miss Maguire has already formulated the rules, by which he must abide when Reuben comes to town. She outlined them Wednesday.

First—He must not drink, except out of the water barrel on the grounds.

Second—He must "steal home" every day after the game in time for supper.

Third—If he is "caught stealing" away from home to a saloon, she will act as a "scout" and go after him.

Fourth—She is to be manager, umpire and coach. He must be content with pitching.

Fifth—However "wild" his work may be, he will not get into serious trouble unless he attempts to pull down a high ball.

Sixth—She will attend every game when he is in St. Louis, and will accompany him around the circuit, if his other manager will permit.

Seventh—She will "assist" him in every way and make every "sacrifice" to keep him in the straight and narrow way.

Eighth—If he disobeys her, he will be sent to the bench.

This will be Rube's second tryout in the matrimonial league. His first manager got a release early in February in the circuit court of St. Louis.

Miss Maguire's home is at Hattiesburg, Miss., where her mother, Mrs. Charles Grassin, resides. It was May 18 last that Miss Maguire became acquainted with Waddell. It was at a party given at the residence of J. F. Berry, 4154 McPherson avenue. They were introduced by Mrs. A. F. Ruppenthal, of 3144 South Grand avenue, who knew Waddell, and with whom Miss Maguire was visiting at the time.

Last July Miss Maguire returned to her home in Mississippi, but came back to St. Louis in time to give Rube a chance to warble "Goodbye, Girlie and Remember Me" before he started on his spring training trip, after his divorce.

The couple have arranged to be married at Clayton. Every day Rube receives a letter signed "Madge," and every day the young bride-elect (she is 18) receives a letter and anywhere from one to a dozen postcards from the wistful Waddell.

After the wedding they will give a big dinner to his team mates of the Browns.

TAMED INSURGENTS.

The republican insurgents in the house of representatives have just given the country an edifying spectacle of marching up the hill and marching down again. After months of noisy acclaim against the "despotism, czarism and tyranny" of Uncle Joe Cannon, and at the very time when the power was in their hands, through the loyal and unfaltering assistance of a solid democratic phalanx, to end forever the reign of the "tyrant," they meekly laid down in their tracks and voted to retain him.

The insurgents seek to justify their illogical course by the assertion that the fight was not against Cannon as a personality, but against Cannonism as a force in the government. They may, however, find it difficult to impress this fine distinction upon the minds of their constituents. At a distance their performance is more apt to bear the aspect of a sudden rout in the very hour of victory. It looks as though the insurgents had become suddenly frightened at their own actions and made haste to climb into the bandwagon of "party solidarity" before it was too late.

The democrats are the only ones who can gain comfort out of the late proceedings. Their course was consistent, straightforward and manly throughout. They presented a solid front at every moment against Cannon and Cannonism, stuck manfully to their guns and have nothing to apologize for nor regret.

THE DIVORCE SUPPER.

John Jacob Astor has inaugurated a new custom for people of fashion. On the night before his wife was to secure her divorce Col. Astor sumptuously entertained 150 of his friends. The affair began with a splendid supper and ended with a cotillon, the favors costing, according to reliable dispatches, the neat but by no means gaudy sum of $18,000.

Owing to the success of Col. Astor's party, says the Chicago Record, we may expect the divorce supply to supersede the wedding breakfast as a social diversion, and it is also to be expected that as society warms up to it the idea may be elaborated in no small degree. For obvious reasons the divorce supper cannot be preceded by functions that shall be graced by bridesmaids, and for reasons that are equally apparent the host at a divorce supper cannot be expected to have a best man seated at his right.

For a pleasing variation and for the launching of an idea that must have been the result of a genuine inspiration, Col. Astor will doubtless receive the heartfelt thanks of his set.

HOLD BACK THE WHEAT.

Wheat in farmers' hands, March 1 was 30,000,000 bushels more than a year ago, according to the estimates of the department of agriculture. The percentage of the previous season's crop is a little more than last year, and practically the same as the average for the past decade. The quantity, however, is over 20,000,000 bushels in excess of the ten years' average. The corn on the farmers' hands is just a shade more than the average for ten years, while the percentage of the previous season's crop is perceptibly below the average. There would seem to be enough of both grains on hand to avert fears of a scarcity, for what is known in the trade as the visible supply is to be added to the farm stocks, and it is very seldom that the agricultural correspondents of the department overestimate the production of the stocks brought over.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE CORRUPT.

The fire insurance iniquity in New York state is bringing facts to light that indicate the bribery and corruption reeking in state legislature extended even into the courts.

A check has appeared bearing the indorsement of a supreme court justice, and letters have been read showing that the "legislative agent" of the insurance companies was the regular recipient of advance information of what the purport would be of court decisions.

A few years ago the American people imposed implicit confidence in their judiciary. That day has passed. Revelations of late years have shown that judges can be, and frequently are, as corrupt as the cheapest bought and paid for politician.

The moral awakening in this country at the present time will fail to perform all that should be expected of it if it does not sweep a few corrupt judges along into the penitentiary along with the lesser graters.

THE DES MOINES PLAN.

During the month of February the business men of Des Moines, Iowa, used 10,000 inches of display advertising in the four daily papers there, at an average rate of about 75 cents an inch, making their expenditures on this account $45,000. The classified advertising was in addition to this.

One doesn't have to look further than at the advertising columns of the Des Moines daily newspapers to find why that city is forging ahead of all other cities in Iowa, and perhaps of cities of its class in other states in population, local trade and prosperous conditions generally.

And what has added largely in bringing about these conditions in advertising? Of course, Des Moines, the capital of the state of Iowa, has been given an impetus by the enterprise of its business men; but the phenomenal conditions which justify the merchants and business men of Des Moines to expend $45,000 for newspaper advertising in a single month did not exist before the adoption by that city of the commission form of government something over two years ago. The administration of the city costs much less than before and general municipal prosperity seems to have resulted.

WILL MAKE THE BOSSES SQUIRM.

The republican bosses of Pennsylvania will not relish the news that comes from Wilkesbarre to the effect that the state Federation of Labor has decided not to call a statewide strike, but to form a labor party instead, the particular and specific purpose of which will be to give a black eye to the republican machine in coming elections, while incidentally seeking to elect candidates and promote measures in the interest or organized labor.

The working men of Pennsylvania have had it in their power at any time to dethrone republican supremacy in the state and in the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, but heretofore too many of them have been prone to go along with the old machine.

The threat of organized labor to henceforth act as a political entity in the keystone state will, if carried out, cause a panic in the party of protection, plutocracy and plunder.

THE ROARING WEST.

There are indications that the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy will break out in both houses of congress before the Nelson committee is ready with its report. In the senate Mr. Heyburn of Idaho availed himself of the consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill to make a furious attack on the system of forest conservation, which is most repugnant to him as well as to a number of other Rocky Mountain senators. They want the forests cut down, the mines exploited and irrigation accomplished by private companies, so that the water power belonging to the nation amy be transferred to these corporations. There is nothing apparently that they want to protect and preserve but the Rocky Mountain sheep, the syndicate owners of which pasture them for next to nothing on the public domain.

A number of cities with less population than Warrensburg have large public libraries and it is stated that there is no reason why one should not be located here if the people will only support it.

A RIFLE PRACTICE

SENATE HAS PASSED BILL TO APPROPRIATE $100,000 FOR THE PURPOSE.

IS DIVIDED AMONG CIVILIANS

Among Foreign Nations the Custom Is a General One and Much Money Is Used Among the Various Clubs.

Washington, D. C., March 31—The senate has passed unanimously the senate bill appropriating $100,000 for rifle practice in the schools and universities of the country, and among civilian clubs. This bill has been endorsed by the war department and by the National Rifle association, and has received the support of President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt.

There are at the present time ninety-three universities, colleges and schools where army officers are detailed with an enrollment in the military department of 22,910. These include the agricultural schools which receive appropriations under the Morrill act. Of this number only 3,239 receive outdoor instruction and 9,748 gallery practice. In addition to the above institutions there are twenty-eight private military schools with an approximate attendance of 2500. Through lack of proper facilities, such practice as they have is of little value.

The proposed appropriation is to be devoted to civilian and school boy rifle practice. An interesting exhibit of what is being done in other countries to promote rifle practice among civilian rifle clubs and in the schools accompanied the report made by Senator Briggs. In Canada the Dominion Rifle association receives annually from the Canadian government a subsidy of $15,000, besides a full allowance of ammunition, amounting to 100,000 cartridges a year.

The government of Great Britain donates each year to the National Rifle association of that country 500,000 rounds of cartridges for use in the annual contests held at Bisley, and furnishes the Bisley meetings with soldiers to run the matches and camp equippage for the use of competitors. The National Rifle association of that country has an annual income, which last year amounted to nearly $100,000. Affiliated with the national association are 200 minor associations and 1700 clubs. About 150 schools have cadet corps in which rifle practice is carried on and each year there is a contest among the schools for a trophy presented by Lord Ashburton. Australia has a reserve force of 50,000 civilian riflemen and appropriates $500,000 annually for ammunition for their practice. The railroads in Australia give free transportation to members of the rifle clubs when traveling to and from the ranges. Forty thousand schoolboys are organized into cadet corps and are furnished arms and ammunition by the government and receive instruction in rifle practice.

In France the government issues rifles free to the rifle clubs and last year the free issue of ammunition to such clubs cost the government $100,000. The government also appropriates $12,000 to the National society which is used for prizes and decorations. The departments co-operate in the teaching of rifle practice to the children. The war department helps with arms and ammunition, the department of the interior with money and the department of public instruction by encouraging the development of rifle exercises in the schools. Boys under 17 years of age are furnished with the miniature rifle and all over that age with the army rifle.

In 1882 the Italian government organized an association for the purpose of teaching all citizens to properly handle the military rifle. This organization is under the supervision of the secretary of war, who has his headquarters in Rome. Total or partial exemption from military duty is given to members of the rifle clubs who have profitably taken shooting lessons for two years. Shooting grounds are provided at the joint expense of the societies, the country where located and the government which also gives each branch of the National association, acording to the number of membtrs, sufficient rifles and sells the ammunition at cost prices. The day for practice is always Sunday, so the working men can attend the meetings without losing a day's work. A military instructor is in charge to teach the rules of shooting, care of the rifle and individual and company drill. This instructor is an officer of the army and all shooting is carefully watched by him. Every year there are community matches; every two years inter-country matches and every five years a national civilian match. This match is generally held in Rome and the occasion is made a legal and popular holiday. The government gives free railroad tickets to representatives from the various branches, while other marksmen who attend are allowed 75 per cent discount on the cost of railroad tickets. In the last match, which lasted fifteen days, about 30,000 men took part. The list of prizes had among the donors the king and queen of Italy, members of parliament, the cities, the countries, the government. ladies of nobility and others. The giving of the prizes is attended by the civil and military authorities. The king gives the prizes to the first three men in each class.

In Switzerland there are more than 3,600 shooting societies, with over 200,000 members. In 1902, the date of the last report received, 84,309 members qualified as marksmen. If the same ratio were maintained in proportion to population, the United States would have 4,280 marksmen.

The governmen of Sweden annually appropriates $153,780 towards rifle practice, which is apportioned among grants to rifle clubs, to the national shooting societies, for ammunition, target ranges, target prizes, printing, etc. In 1905 there were 1850 rifle clubs in Sweden.

HELD FOR MURDER

Coroner's Jury in New York Said Youth Killed Ruth Wheeler.

New York, March 31.—An inquest into Ruth Wheeler's death was held yesterday and the coroner's jury held Albert Wolter for the grand jury.

Wolter at the inquest presented a remarkable contrast to the dapper youth who only a few days ago made his first entry into the case. Katie Miller, his young woman companion, who also is being detained, came into court shortly after Wolter.

She glanced at the prisoner, but he took no notice of her.

Both Pearl and Adelaide Wheeler, sisters of the dead girl, testified to the facts concerning the search for Ruth which have already been brougt out.

They identified various articles belonging to their sister found in Wolter's rooms and a bundle containing the body, which was thrown into the yard of the Wolter house from the fire escape, were a neigbor discovered it.

Katie Miller testified to Wolter's mysterious movements about the fireplace on the night after the murder.

KLING'S BIG FINE

ford me the greatest delight to greet the west side fans in Chicago again," said John Kling, when apprised of the national commission's decision in his case.

"You know the national commission is the court of last resort in baseball, and when it tells a fellow what to do he has to do it," added the catcher. "I think the fine is too high, and it is not to my liking to play for a salary of $4,500, but I love baseball and I am willing to meet the conditions imposed on me in order to get back into baseball.

"I would rather play in Chicago than any place on earth. The fans in that city have always been very kind to me, and I tell you, I shall be mighty glad to get back into a Chicago uniform.

"I have not heard a word from the national commission about this matter. I have received no official notification of any kind, but I expect to be notified soon, and I shall join the Chicago club within five or six days after I receive the notice. I shall join the club at their spring practice camp.

"I will remain here just long enough to straighten out my business affairs. It was impossible for me to play baseball last year, because my business here was in its infancy and needed my personal attention. Now my business is established and it is in such shape that I can leave it."

Asked to discuss the rumor that President Murphy, of the Chicago National league, would pay his fine, Kling said:

"That is ridiculous. I will pay the fine myself, of course. President Murphy has no right to pay it. Besides, such an action on his part would be in direct violation of the conditions outlined by the national commission. I can not understand how such absurd stories are started.."

Kling refused to discuss the details of the commission's decision or the facts upon which it was based. He would not corroborate or controvert any of the charges made against him.

CANADA WANTS HELP

Its Annual Demand for Farm Laborers Has Now Commenced.

Winnepeg, Man., March 30.—Western Canada's annual call for help has already commenced, and by next week the demand for farm hands will become widespread throughout the western provinces. Applications have already been filed at the immigration offices here for many thousands of hands, most of the demands being for men to work seven months, beginning Friday next. Wages offered run from $30 to $35 per month, with board, for experienced farm hands.

The past winter has been an exceptionally pleasant one in all districts.

Prices for farm products have ruled high, money has been plentiful and the transportation facilities have been equal to the demands of an ever increasing growth of trade of an expanding country.

The fuel question, which heretofore has been considered an annual fear, owing to the local supply centers failing to keep provided with sufficient coal to meet local demands, has been obviated this season by the local dealers laying in heavier suppplies, and also helped by the weather conditions which have been of a nature to mark it as the finest winter for the past twenty-five years.

Under these conditions, and with most encouraging reports coming in weekly from points in these western provinces, the year opens with a faith in the future amply substantiated by conditions which actually exist.

Christ's Ascension From Hades

Text, "He led forth a multitude of captives and gave gifts unto men." —Ephesians iv:8.

Special Correspondence.

Tremont Temple, Boston, March 27. —As christendom celebrates the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ, it is appropriate that our hearts and minds should intelligently grasp the significance of the event commemorated. St. Paul laid great stress upon the resurrection of the dead, declaring that if there be no resurrection of the dead all those whom we counted as asleep would never have an awakening and consequently would be as dead as brute beasts. Note his emphatic statement to this effect (I Corinthians xv, 12-18). For here as elsewhere his words contradict the thought that the saintly dead pass immediately to glory and the unsaintly to purgatory or to eternal torture.

According to the Gospel of Christ, of which St. Paul declares that he was not ashamed, the dead are to be esteemed as though they were asleep—at rest from all the commotion and strife, ignorance and superstition and sin and trouble incident to the present reign of sin and death. They have truly entered into rest, whether they were saints or sinners When the time for their awakening shall have come, in the Millennial morning of Christ's reign of righteousness, surrounding conditions will be very different from what they are today, thank God! Then Satan will be bound, the Bible assures us (Rev. xx, 1-3), and the ignorance and superstition, selfishness and crime, which have for centuries marked his reign, will gradually draw to a close, for the glorious Messiah-King will not permit them. His reign, on the contrary, will be marked by the true enlightenment of all mankind, and the result will be, as foretold, namely, "Every knee shall bow and every tongue confess to the glory of God" (Isaiah xlv, 23.)

Gradually the world will be brought to an Edenic condition, in harmony with the Divine promise. Indeed, this work may be said to be already beginning. Already, by artesian wells and irrigation processes and highways of travel, and good roads and intelligent cultivation of fields, the earth begins to bloom and the wilderness and the solitary place to be glad, as foretold by Isaiah the prophet (Isaiah xxxv, 1).

Under these blessed conditions "All that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of Man and shall come forth" (John v, 28-29). Not all at once, but "Every man in his own order" (I Cor. xv, 23). The saintly believers, who alone are fully pleasing to God, will come forth in the first, or chief, or preferable, resurrection—come forth perfect on the spirit plane, like unto the angels and like unto their glorified Redeemer, to be His joint heirs in His Millennial kingdom and its great work of resuscitating, instructing and ruling and uplifting all the families of the earth (Romans viii, 22). Thus will be fulfilled God's promise to the spiritual seed of Abraham, "In thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed (Galatians iii, 29). Gradually, after dealing with the living nations to some extent, the sleeping world will be awakened, "Every man in his own order" (I Cor. xv, 23.)

Our Lord assures us that all except the saintly few will come forth from the tomb that they may have a resurrection—a raising up out of sin and death conditions to righteousness, to the image of God that was lost by Adam; and that eventually, if willing and obedient, they will receive God's gift of eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. But the rebellious under those favorable conditions, we are assured, will be cut off from life entirely in the second death (Acts iii, 19-23.)

In speaking of the world's resurrection our Redeemer designates it a resurrection by judgments (Rev. Ver. John v. 28-29.) Messiah's righteous judgments will then be abroad in the world. The light of knowledge will then be as clear as the noonday sun Every good deed and endeavor will receive its reward and every wilfully evil deed will receive chastisements, corrections, to the intent that they may learn the advantages of the way of holiness and go up thereon to life eternal, which the willing and obedient may reach by the close of the Millennial age.

Through the prophet, Daniel, the Lord declares that many of the worldly who now sleep in the dust of the earth shall come forth unto shame and lasting contempt. We can readily realize the shame that will be theirs when the light of full knowledge shall prevail and all their past shall stand revealed to themselves and to others in true colors. We can well understand that this will bring contempt to many now highly esteemed among men. But we can rejoice in the thought that the Millennial kingdom then to be in power will deal graciously with all. The stripes of punishment will be tempered with mercy; and gradually by the change of character the contemptible ones will cease to be contemptible. The transforming power of grace and truth now operating in the church will be equally forceful then, operating upon the world of mankind. As perfection is gradually attained the shame of the imperfection will gradually abate while all the shameless will be destroyed in the second death. Thus we see the Divine purpose of the resurrection of the dead and our glorious hope, far different from all the fears that were taught us by the musty traditions of men, from the dark ages And thus we see the force of the apostle's words, that if there be no resurrection of the dead our hope is vain, our faith is vain (I Corinthians xv, 14-19.)

"But Now Is Christ Risen."

The apostle argues, "If the dead rise not," if that is an impossibility so far a the world in general is concerned, then it is an impossibility so far as Christ is concerned. And "if Christ be not risen" all hope, all faith is vain, and all preaching is not only foolish, but worse. (See I Cor. xv, 14.) "But now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept." The mere awakening from death, as in the case of Lazarus, Dorcas and others, is here left out of the question. Nothing is counted as resurrection except the full, complete raising up out of death. Our Lord was the -first that should rise from the dead" (Acts xxvi, 23), in this full sense. And He was a first fruits, or proof, that others still sleeping would come forth by Divine power to be exercised by Him in the resurrection morning—the Millennial morning. The church will be the next in order, she is to be the bride-consort of the great King and to participate with Him in His glorious work of uplifting the race which fell from the Divine image into sin and death through Father Adam. The redemption price has been provided in the death of Jesus, and the time for beginning the great work of "restitution of all things merely waits until the completion of the election of the saintly church (Acts iii, 19-21.)

Christ Arose From Hades.

Preaching on the Day of Pentecost, St. Peter declares that God raised Christ from the dead. Then in proof that this was the Divine intention from the beginning, he quotes from the prophetic Psalm of David, "Thou shalt not leave my soul in hell." The apostle's quotation (Acts ii, 27) is in the Greek, in which the word hell is hades. His quotation is from the Hebrew, in which the word hell is sheol —the only word rendered hell throughout the entire Old Testament.

I am not stating this as something new, although I am confident that it is new to many of my hearers and to many of the eighteen millions who will read my discourse in tomorrow's papers. For the sake of such I note the fact that in the morning of our Lord's resurrection He said to Mary, "Touch me not, for I am not yet ascended to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God" (John xx, 17). I remind them foruther of the language of the so-called Apostle's Creed, which is coming more and more into vogue with all denominations and which declares, "He descended into hell and rose again the third day." In a version of this creed published by the Presbyterian board of publication of Philadelphia, a foot note very properly explains the word hell here used is, in the Greek, hades, which signifies the state or condition of death.

I consider this a very important matter, which should be made widely known, because of the false conception of hell handed down to us through our creeds, formulated in the dark ages, and since a misinterpretation of sheol and hades has been given to the public mind—the impession that these words signify a place or torture. All this is wholly false, as every Greek and Hebrew scholar knows, and if cross-questioned will admit. It is an important question to the public, because this misconception of the meaning of the word hell is driving hundreds, yea, thousands, away from God and from the Bible. They correctly reason that the teaching that our Creator foreknew and intended a hell of torture for his creatures is beyond conception, beyond belief and manifestly untrue, as no holy being could be so unjust, so unkind, so unloving.

It is time that all such should see that the fault lies with the creeds and not with the Bible, that the Bible teaches a hell, sheol, hades, into which all go, both good and bad, and from which all will be called forth in the resurrection morning by the great Redeemer.

"Leading Captivity Captive."

A better translation reads, "Our Lord ascended on high leading a multitude of captives." These words are a pen picture representing a great king as conqueror returning from a victory over an opponent. The victor rode in a chariot at the head of the procession, surrounded by trumpets and acclaimers, and behind him followed the evidences, the proofs of his victory—either those whom he had capetured or enslaved, or as in this case, those who had been captured and enslaved and whom the conqueror had set free.

The picture is graphis and wonderful, notwithstanding the fact that a considerable space has intervened between our Lord's triumphant resurrection and the ascension and the evidences of his victory, which are following after Him. Of the great King of Glory himself, let us remember that after He had suffered by the will of God, 'the just for the unjust." that He might set mankind free from sin and death, He was "highly exalted and given a name above every name." He was made "partaker of the divine nature." He was no longer a man, for "Flesh and blood can not inherit the kingdom of God" (I Cor. xv, 50(.

True, He still has as one of His many titles the Son of Man, which identifies Him with our race and the work which He is in the process of accomplishing for it and which He will finish during His Millennial reign. We are reminded by the apostle that He was put to death in the flesh and made alive in spirit, a spirit being. He was "sown in corruption; raised in incorruption; sown in dishonor, raised in glory; sown a natural body, raised a spiritual body." As the church' head and forerunner He passed beyond the veil; and now, shotly, as participants with Him as the second battalion of the glorious, triumphal procession, will follow the "church which is his body," sharers with Him in the first resurrection. His bride.

Next in processional order following the bride class, the "vey elect," will come the "geat company," from every nation, people, kindred and tongue, the honored servants of the heavenly Bridegroom and bride. "The virgins, her companions," (Psalm xvi. 14) will follow after the bride into the presence of the great King Jehovah. Next in processional order will come the Ancient Worthies, from faithful Abel down to John the Baptist, the greatest of the prophets. But there will come forth from the tomb in human perfection, and not in the spirit perfection of those preceding (Hebrews xi, 38-40; Matt. xi, 11). In their human perfection imilar to that of Adam before his transgession, plus their development in faith and obedience, these will constitute a first fruits of Israel and of the worlof of mankind. Under their administration supervised by the glorified ones beyond the veil, the work of restitution and uplifting the captives of sin and death will progress until the close of the thousand years of that reign of righteousness, every human being of loyal character will be completely freed from the bondage of sin and death and imperfection and with the Ancient Worthies will march in the gand procession into the presence of Jehovah God.

Thus the great Redeemer and Deliverer will not only present the saintly church blameless and irreproachable befoe the Father in love, but likewise will liberate all who will of Adam's race, now asleep and degraded. No wonder the Scriptures declare of the end of His triumphal procession, "He shall see of the travail of his soul and be satisfied" (Isaiah liii 11).

"And Gave Gifts Unto Men."

All the blessings which in God's providence are not coming to the church during this Gospel age, and all the blessings that in the Millennial age will flow to natural Israel, "the rebellious also," and all the blessings that will flow through Israel and its new covenant to all the familes of the earth, proceed directly or indrectly from the great victory which our Lord Jesus gained over sin and death. Our text and context, as well as the Psalm from which the quotation is made, bears out this thought. It is because our Lord descended, because He left the heavenly glory, and because, in harmony with the Father's will, our Redeemer left the courts of heavenly glory and humbled himself to become a man, and then "humbled himself to death even the death of the cross,' that His exaltation came as a reward of loyalty to the Father's will.

And in the Divine plan it is because His resurrection body and glory were a reward, a blessing, His earthly body and nature and rights had not been forfeited through disobedience, that He had the latter, with all its privileges, to bestow upon Adam's dead and dying race. He gave the merit of that sacrifice, first imputedly, on behalf of all desirous of walking in His steps even unto death, that these might be, in the Father's good pleasure, counted as His members and companions on the heavenly plane. To this end the first gifts were bestowed at Pentecost; and all of similar class throughout this age have had opportunity for participation therein. Additionally, gifts of helpfulness and instruction and assistance were provided through the apostles, orators, pastors and teachers of the church, for the qualification of these saintly footsep followers for the work of service in building up the body of Christ, until the elect body shall be complete (Ephesians iv, 11-13.)

Soon these gifts and blessings and privileges now granted and imputed to the church will be no longer needed by the class being prepared for the heavenly joint-heirship. Then the gift of the Millennial kingdom, and through Israel the gift of the new covenant (Jeremiah xxxi, 31), will be bestowed upon the blood-bought world, granting to them individually the opportunity of recovering from all their defilement and imperfection.

Let us, then, hail this great Redeemer and Deliverer Lord of All! Let us bow our hearts to Him now and voluntarily put on the yoke of His service and suffer with Him "outside the camp," that we may be accounted worthy of sharing with Him in the glorious work of His Millennial kingdom and His bride and joint-heir (Hebrews xiii, 11-13).

The Earth's Future Population at Present Rates of Increase.

Pastor Russell, of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, has made an estimate of the earth's future population, as follows:

1900 A. D. Census report	1,600,000.000
2000 A. D. At 8 per cent increase every ten years	3,428,720,000
2100 A. D. At 8 per cent increase every ten years	7,393,248,000
2200 A. D. At 8 per cent increase every ten years	15,895,483,000
2300 A. D. At 8 per cent increase every ten years	34,173,282,000
2400 A. D. At 8 per cent increase every ten years	73,472,552,000
2500 A. D. At 8 per cent increase every ten years	157,965,982,000
2600 A. D. At 8 per cent increase every ten years	339,626,900,000
2700 A. D. At 8 per cent increase every ten years	730,195,900.000
2800 A. D. At 8 per cent increase every ten years	1,569,919,250,000
2900 A. D. At 8 per cent increase every ten years	3,375,325,850,000

If these figures be divided or quartered even, the showing is sufficiently appalling. The results remind us of the story of the blacksmith who accepted of his king as a reward a few grains of wheat according to the squares of the king's chess-board—two grains for the first square and that doubled with each succeeding square of the sixty-four.

We recall the consternation of the king when he learned that all the wheat in his domain would only begin to pay the debt that at first thought seemed trifling.

The report that Mr. Bowers will be appointed comes from sources very close to President Taft.

Secretary Nagel said that the report identifying him as a possible appointee was unfounded. The Kansas delegation in congress, including both senators and all members of the house today agreed to indorse Circuit Judge William C. Hook, of Leavenworth, for the honor.

HE WON'T CONFESS

ALBERT WOLTER, ACCUSED OF AWFUL CRIME, STILL REMAINS OBDURATE.

THE TRIAL WILL BE RUSHED

Evidence Obtained Seems to Be Conclusive That Accused Youth Committed the Deed—Is Almost in Collapse.

New York, March 30.—The body of Ruth Wheeler, the 15-year-old stenographer who was murdered in the room of Albert Wolter, on Thursday last, was quietly buried in the family plot in Long Island yesterday, while the youth accused of the crime continues to resist the efforts of detectives to obtain a confession. The funeral of the victim was simple.

Standing on his assertion that perhaps he will "tell everything on Wednesday," Wolter remains in his cell, still denying that he killed the girl or that he knew her. The district attorney's office says, however, that evidence sufficient to convict already has been obtained and that the trial will be rushed, beginning perhaps as early as Monday. The present plan is to lay the case before the grand jury tomorrow without the formality of a coroner's inquest.

Evidence that may fix a motive for the crime was revealed today in the findings of Prof. John N. Larkin, of Columbia University, who reported there were indications that she had been mistreated before being killed.

Wolter passed a miserable night in his cell in the Tombs. He seemer to realize the full seriousness of his position. Shrinking even from mention of the tragedy and covering his face with his hands and sobbing at reiteration of the pitiful tale of the girl stenographer who had met such an appalling fate shortly after applying to him for a position, the trembling lad clung to the comfort contained in a reassuring message which came to him from his companion, Katie Mueller.

San Francisco, Cal., March 31.—Eight lepers of the colony of eighteen confined at the isolation hospital here joined in a petition to the board of health today asking that steps be taken to rescind the action of the board in removing Dr. John Atcherly from attending upon them. Petition recites a pathetic story of weariness and loneliness that is sustained only by the hope that the signers may be benefited and ultimately cured of the dread malady. "Ever since our imprisonment, which has been from three months to eight years," the appeal states, "we had no systematic treatment until Dr. Atcherly gave us his attention. Other physicians plainly showed a disinclination to come in contact with us, and as a result we have been left to rot and die like animals.

GIVES LONG LIFE

SOUR MILK, SO SAYS A FORMER PROFESSOR IN LONDON ENGLAND.

SOUR MILK LEAGUE WAS FORMED

It Follows Theories Advanced That as an Article of Diet This Dairy Product Will Prolong Existence for Its Users.

London, March 30.—The League for Long Living was formally launched on a sea of sour milk today by several hundred enthusiasts who are devotees of Prof. Metchnikof's theories. The first article in the platform of the new organization is "Drink sour milk." and the last is "Drink sour milk."

It is alleged by Dr. Ankerman, the head of the league, that sour milk in one form or another has been an article of diet of a number of nations for centuries, and it was a study of the custom, as it prevailed in some of the states of Southeast Europe, which first led Prof. Metchnikof, the famous savant to make the experiments on which the treatment is now based.

In Bulgaria and Roumania this form of soured milk has been extensive, among the poor in particular, for many years. The fact is well known to travelers. The observant visitor also seldom fails to note the large proportion of healthy old people to be seen in these parts. Bulgaria, with a population of about three millions, has more than three thousand centenarians.

What Prof. Metchnikof set himself to find out was the particular action which the Bulgarian and Roumanian soured milk bacilli exercised, and he succeeded. With a good digestion there is always a certain amount of food which one eats which decomposes and the process leads to the absorption in the system of poisons. The process with a bad digestion is naturally accelerated. It is the cause of many of the ills to which the human flesh is heir, and it is a direct factor in determining the length of human life in individual cases.

Anything which will retard the process obviously will confer a benefit on mankind in many ways. It is claimed that the sour milk bacilli which Prof. Metchnikof recommends do have that effect, because they arrest the disease germs which cause the mischief before they get to the tissues, thereby insuring a healthy blood circulation.

Prof. Metchnikof is misrepresented when he is quoted as saying that everybody might become a centenarian by adopting the treatment, but he is certainly convinced that life in the ordinary course would not only be prolonged, but would be made more agreeable while it lasts if his discoveries were properly applied.

The court was examining a prisoner when abused by Solkt, and the latter persisted in coacning the prisoner. The judge in the absence of the court bailiff, John Huber, took his own course. Solkt refused to have the judge arrested for assault and battery.

WAS LURE OF LOVE

THAT LEAD 18-YEAR-OLD BOY TO KILL AN OLD MAN LAST FRIDAY NIGHT.

HE WANTED TO GET MARRIED

Confesses That He Killed His White-Haired Victim With a Hammer In Order to Get a Check for $615.

Carrollton, Mo., March 30.—Was it Arthus Wooden's eagerness to marry that prompted him to murder George W. Smith in his lonely cabin in the woods last Friday night? Wooden is 18 years old. He has confessed that he had beaten the old man to death with a hammer in order to take from him a $615 check. More than a year ago Wooden left his father's farm and since then he has "hired out" to other farmers around the neighborhood. A farm hand is doing well if he makes $18 a month, board and a place to sleep.

Lately Wooden has been employed by John Miles, a farmer, living a half-mile down the road from the Smith pasture gate. Through this gate two wheel tracks wind across the pasture to the little 1-roomed log cabin back among the trees, where, since the death of his wife, five years ago, George W. Smith, 70 years old, white-haired and bearded, lived alone.

"I am going to bring my girl in and get married," Wooden told a clerk in the New York store here Saturday morning as he sized up the fit of a new $40 suit before a mirror.

Wooden had come to town that morning and cashed a $615 check. It was that action which led to his arrest. Monday G. W. Smith was found dead in his bed in his cabin. His throat had been cut and his skull fractured in three places. Several days before Smith had sold a lot of mules and had received in payment a check for $615. The check could not be found in the cabin.

"I killed old man Smith," Wooden told the prosecutor yesterday morning, "I did it by myself and for that $615 check. Last Thursday I met Smith on the road after he had sold the mules. He showed me the check. It would take me many years to save $615. I think I never could save it. Last Friday night I left Miles' house, where I was working, just after dark. I took with me a hammer.

"As I walked up through the pasture to Smith's cabin the door was open. The light was shining out against the trees in front. The old man was sitting just in front of the door reading a newspaper. He never knew I came. Neither of us said a word. I hit him twice on the head with the hammer and he fell out of the chair. I hit him again and he lay still. Then I cut his throat. I searched his pockets and couldn't find the check. I looked through his trunk and found the check in the till with about $4 in change.

"Then I picked the old man up, put him on the bed and covered him all up. I put some old coats over the blood spots and went out and chained the door on the outside. That was all except that the next morning I got off from work and came to Carrollton to cash the check."

Arthur Wooden is the son of Hence Wooden, a prosperous farmer who lives in the neighborhood of the Smith cabin. Smith had lived in the little house of logs chinked with mortar for more than thirty years and owned the 80-acre farm he lived on. The place is eight miles from Bogard, the nearest postoffice. Arthur Wooden is in the county jail. Arthur Huber, one of Wooden's companions who was arrested with him was released yesterday.

OUT FROM AFRICA

COL. ROOSEVELT TODAY LEFT BEHIND LANDS OF GREAT HUNT.

HIS FAMILY WAS WITH HIM

Will Begin His Triumphal Pilgrimage With Glory Under Direction of Will Hobnob With Royalty and Speak to People.

Alexandria, Egypt, Mach 30.—From the deck of the steamer Prinz Heinrich, Col. Theodore Roosevelt today waved a final farewell to Africa.

There was a mingling of sadness and gladness expressed on the countenance of the former president as the dark continent vanished from view and the sturdy ocean liner sped away over the blue Mediterranean toward Naples, which will be reached Saturday. To many government officials and others who gathered to say good by to the distinguished American he expressed himself as "delighted" with his African experiences and declared he had had a "bully time."

With Mrs. Roosevelt, Kermit, Miss Ethel and the other members of his party, Col. Roosevelt will begin a triumphal pilgrimage through Europe next Saturday. Reaching Naples on that day, the former president and party will proceed on Sunday to Rome, where Mr. Roosevelt will be presented to both the king and the pope.

The party will then journey northward through Austria-Hungary, visiting Vienna and Budapest and then going straight to Paris, getting to the French metropolis about April 19. The stay here will probably be limited to about four days.

Leaving Paris, the party will go to Brussels, the capital of Belgium, roam around awhile in Holland and then go up to Christiana, the governmental seat of Norway. Berlin is next in line and in the eGrman capital the Roosevelts will spend three or four days. While Col. Roosevelt has declined an invitation to be received in state by the German emperor, it is entirely probable that he will find time to visit Emperor William and also to hob-nob a little with the famous scientists of the German capital.

On leaving Germany the party will cross the Dover straits to England, and London will have three or four days of the Roosevelts. It was Col. Roosevelt's idea to be officially received by King Edward, but this would involve a visit to Buckingham palace and delay his return to his native land. But it is a question as to whether the ex-president can get out of this. King Edward is one of Mr. Roosevelt's most ardent admirers, and he has let it be known in no uncertain manner to Ambassador Reid that he wishes to heap honors upon the head of the American, and that if it is at all possible it shall be arranged.

The Roosevelt party has received invitations enough to visit, speeches, banquets, etc., to keep the head of it busy for about two years.

But Col. Roosevelt planned his return trip across Europe before he entered the wilds of Africa, and it is so filled with engagements that it is practically impossible for him to accept any more.

Sell Dreamland at Auction.

New York, March 30.—Dreamland, Coney Island, one of the world's most famous amusement resorts, was sold at auction today and bought in by the former owners. The sale resulted from friendly proceedings instituted to obtain reorganization of the corporation that controls the pleasure resort. The action was caused by Eugene D. Wood and Joseph Huber, two of the largest stockholders.

Samuel Whitehouse, counsel for the Dreamland company, said that the sale of the park would make no difference in its management. The stockholders desired, he said, to get rid of an issue of $750,000 debenture bonds and to raise money by another mortgage, so the present proceedings were begun.

Dreamland came into existence in 1904 and the corporation controlling it was capitalized at $1,500,000.

IS FOR DEMOCRACY

PRESIDENT WILSON, OF PRINCETON UNIVERSITY, TAKES STAND FOR RIGHT.

PARTY SHOULD BE IN CONTROL

Says Political Tide Is Turning That Way and the Day Is Near When It Will Take Charge of Government.

New York, March 31.—"The political tide is now turning democratic and the day when the democratic party must take charge of the country's affairs is almost at hand," were declarations made Tuesday night by Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton University, in a speech at the democratic dinner in Elizabeth, New Jersey.

Mr. Wilson outlined the character of the legislation which the democrats should give the country to meet the present economic problems. In this connection he said:

"I do not mean, of course, to be guilty of the egotism and audacity of putting forth a program of specific measures, but I do think that is the character we should wish to give legislation.

"In the first place, we should wish not merely to curb the trusts, and above all should not wish to regulate them in such a way as to make them either partners or creatures of the government itself. We should wish to square their whole action and responsibility with the general interest, regarding them not as objects in themselves, but merely as conveniences in our economic life and development. Recent proposals of regulation have looked too much like a wholesale invasion by the government itself of the field of business management.

"Our regulations of public interests must be legal regulation and not direct management.

In the second place, it is clearly our duty so soon as we get the opportunity to take the government out of the business of patronage, the business of granting favors and privileges, of arranging the laws so that this, that or the other group of men may make large profits out of their business, and draw it back to the function of safeguarding rights, general, not particular rights, which make not so much for the "prosperity" which enables small groups of individuals to pile up enormous fortunes, as for a general stimulation, a general opportunity for enlightenment and justice. I am thinking, of course, of tariff legislation. Whatever may be our views with regard to the policy vaguely called the policy of protection, it is clear that in fact it has long since, as dealt with by congress, ceased to be a policy of protection and become a policy of patronage.

"We are told that the present extraordinarily high price of commodities is due, not to the tariff, but to the fact that we are not producing enough to keep up with the daily demand, and that this is particularly true with regard to the things we eat and have daily need of.

"Take meat, for example, and see what the truth is. The truth is that the meat trust has been able to control the market to such an extent that scores of ranchmen have been driven out of the cattle raising business because it was unprofitable. The short supply of meat is due to the monopoly created by the meat trust. It is true therefore that the supply is short, compared with the vast demand; but it has been made short by the operation of a trust unquestionably fostered by the legislation of the government.

"In the third place, it is one of the chief duties of the democratic party to initiate such reform, alike in local and federal government as will secure economy, responsibility, honesty and fidelity.

"And, finally, it seems to me that it is the duty of the democratic party to challenge the people by every possible means to depend upon themselves, rather than upon fostering powers lodged in groups of individuals. There have been very encouraging signs in recent years, particularly in some of our smaller cities, that have, at last, come upon a time when the people are arousing themselves to give over being dependent upon men whom they can not watch and are taking direct charge at any rate of their local governments. There is no reason why this process should not extend to the government of the states, and, in effect, to the government of the nation.

"In brief, our program should be a general revival of popular politics, of common counsel, of responsible leadership. We must supply efficient leaders and eschew the lower personal objects of politics. It is a case of must as well as may, a case of necessity as well as privilege. A new day has come. Men and measures are being scrutinized, as never before. For myself, I veritably believe that we are upon the eve of a new era of political liberty, when more literally and true than ever before we can realize the ideals of popular government and individual privilege.

ALLDS IS GUILTY

RESIGNED JUST BEFORE VOTING

The Most Sensational Legislative Scandal in History of Empire State Legislature Ends With Finding Charges True.

Albany, N. Y., March 29.—The state senate this afternoon by a vote of 40 to 9 sustained the charges against its former presiding officer, Senator J. P. Allds.

Just previous to the vote being taken Senator Allds filed his resignation with the secretary of state. This is practically the end of one of the most sensational legislative scandals in the history of the Empire state.

"Have the charges made by Senator Ben Conger against Senator J. P. Allds, that he demanded and accepted a bribe of $1,000 from the bridge interests on the closing day of the legislative session on April 23, 1901, been sustained?"

This was the question that resulted in such an overwhelming affirmative vote this afternoon.

Politicians who have closely followed the evidence adduced at the hearings believed that Allds would be declared innocent, but by a close margin. A few hold that the republican leaders, realizing that a vigorous prosecution of all official corruption is necessary to party success in the next election, will make the accused man the "goat."

The charge against Allds was first made by Conger in a conversation with other senators as to Allds' fitness to hold place as republican leader in the senate. Conger asserted that he knew of an instance in which Allds took $1,000 for defeating a bridge bill. A newspaper man heard Conger's statement and brought on the publicity to the charge which led to the official investigation.

FRANK A. LONG SERIOUSLY INJURED IN A RUNAWAY IN TEXAS.

IT HAPPENED LAST WEDNESDAY

He and Another Man Were Riding When Horse Became Frightened and Ran Away—Both Thrown to the Pavement.

(From Monday's Daily)

Frank A. Long, a former Sedalian, and John Ryan were quite seriously injured in a runaway accident at San Antonio, Texas, last Wedesday, as will be seen by the following from the San Antonio Light and Express of March 24:

"While Frank A. Long and John Ryan, who are with Swift & Co., were driving in a buggy along Garden street yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, their horse became suddenly frightened, which resulted in a runaway in which both men had a narrow escape with their lives. They were dragged some distance and are today in bed at their respective homes under the care of a physician.

"The men were driving north along Garden street and had just passed the Hutchins house, when the horse became frightened, and, wheeling around, upset the buggy, and with both men underneath, ran down Garden street.

"Long was dragged about fifty feet, when he managed to get out from under, and without stopping to look after his injuries he started in pursuit of the horse and called to several men ahead to stop it, as there was a man underneath.

"Soon Ryan got out and the horse wheeled around and started back towards Long, who, as the animal approached him, stopped it. Long and Ryan were taken into the Hutchins house, where Dr. Amos Graves, Jr., attended them, after which they were taken to their homes, Long to 513 Camden street, where he resides with his wife and baby, and Ryan to 219 Upson street.

"Long was mostly injured about the back and shoulders, besides being bruised all over the body, while Ryan was also cut and bruised and had his ankle badly wrenched. Both men landed on their heads and that they were not instantly killed was pronounced a miracle by every one who saw the accident.

"The buggy was wrecked and the horse was cut about the legs."

ENDS HIS CAREER

JUSTICE DAVID J. BREWER, OF SUPREME BENCH, PASSED AWAY LAST NIGHT.

DEATH CAME MOST UNEXPECTED

His Wife Heard a Fall, But Before He Could Be Carried to His Bed, Aged Jurist Had Passed Away.

Washington, March 29.—David Josiah Brewer, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, died last night at 10:30 o'clock as the result of a stroke of apoplexy. His death followed within a minute or two, before he could be carried to his bed. Mrs. Brewer was with him. Justice Brewer was 73 years of age.

The end came altogether unexpectedly. Although he had not been feeling well for the past few days, the aged jurist was up and out yesterday, and apparently in the best of spirits. He was in equally good spirits at dinner and spent the evening in reading.

Shortly after 10 o'clock he retired to his room, and within a few moments Mrs. Brewer heard a heavy fall and went to investigate the cause. She found her husband prone on the floor of the bath room. He did not regain consciousness and died before a physician, hastily summoned, could reach the house.

The daughters of the aged jurist, Mrs. James F. Karrich and Mrs. H. J. Jetmore were summoned at once, but reached the residence too late.

Justice Brewer was the second oldest member of the supreme court, Justice Harlan only being his senior.

David Josiah Brewer was born in Smyrna, Tsia Minor, June 20, 1837, where his father, the Rev. Josiah Brewer, had gone as a missionary. He was graduated from Yale in 1856 and from the Albany law school two years later. Following the movement of population westward, he removed to Leavenworth, Kas., where he lived until he went to live in Washington, after his appointment to the supreme bench. In 1861, Mr. Brewer was appointed United States commissioner. From 1862 to 1865 he was judge of the probate and criminal courts of Leavenworth county. From then until 1869 he was judge of the district court and the year following served as county attorney. Judge Brewer was elected justice of the supreme court of Kansas in 1870 and was re-elected in 1876 and 1882. In 1884 he was appointed judge of the United States circuit court for the Eighth district. He was appointed associate justice of the United States supreme court on December, 1889, by President Benjamin Harrison. Justice Brewer was commissioned December 18, 1889. Justice Brewer was the fifty-second man appointed associate justice and his appointment was confirmed by a vote of fifty-two senators.

Justice Brewer married twice. His first wife, Mrs. Louise L. Brewer, was born in Burlington, Vt. They were married before Justice Brewer removed to Leavenworth. Mrs. Brewer died in Washington April 3, 1898, at the age of 60 years. In June of 1901 Justice Brewer then 60 years of age, married Miss Emma Miner Mott, who formerly had been a Washington school teacher. They were members of the same church in Washington.

"For many years I have been getting up at 4 o'clock in the morning," Justice Brewer said recently. "My retiring hour is 10 o'clock.

"I got the early rising habit in Kansas. When I was a young, ambitious lawyer in Leavenworth I got so that I couldn't take my mind off my cases. My physician advised me to go to the theatre, attend card parties—anything to forget the law. I did so and soon began to sleep without even dreaming. I gradually acquired the habit of getting up at 4 o'clock. My head was always clear. I got in three hours of work before breakfast and I still do it. My best work is done in the before breakfast hours.'

SPEAKS FOR WETS

MAYOR ROSE, OF MILWAUKEE, WILL TALK TO THE PEOPLE OF CHICAGO.

IMPORTANT MUNICIPAL ELECTION

Probably the Most Serious One Ever Held in Any City in the History of the World—Both Sides Are Awake.

Chicago, March 29.—With the most important municipal prohibition election in the world's history now only a week distant, the "wets" and the "drys" of the Windy City have redoubled their efforts and the next several days will find Chicago engulfed in a sea of fervid oratory. Tonight Mayor David S. Rose, of Milwaukee, one of the most eloquent anti-prohibition orators in the country, will address the voters of Chicago and tell them of the terrible things which would follow the adoption of a dry regime.

To the "man on the fence,' all of this oratory seems but wasted words, so far as convincing anyone is concerned. On this question the voters were aligned before the campaign commenced, and it is unlikely that many have changed their minds. Those who believe in saloons flock to hear the wet speakers and applaud vigorously. The same is true of the anti-saloonists. For a dry adherent to attend a wet rally or listen to a wet speaker would be little short of criminal. So the orators spout to those already convinced, and fondly imagine they are aiding in rolling up a big vote for their side in next Tuesday's battle of ballots.

Few seriously believe that Chicago will be voted dry, although it is possible that the result may be close enough to "throw a scare" into the liquor ranks. But if the drys don't win, it won't be for lack of enthusiasm, especially on the part of the women and children.

FIRE BUG IN JAIL

GEORGE FUEL, 16 YEARS OLD, ARRESTED SUNDAY BY OFFICER HOWARD WOOD.

IGNITED PLACES TO SEE BLAZES

Youthful Prisoner Made Full Confession, Saying He Had Ignited Bell Clothing Store, Guenther's and Williams' Grocery.

(From Monday's Daily)

George Fuel, a 16-year-old son of Newton J. Fuel, a lineman for the Bell Telephone company, residing at 314 North Quincy avenue, was arrested by Howard Wood, a police officer, at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, charged with arson.

The arrest was made in a house owned by J. T. Kaler, at 913 East Fifteenth street, where Fuel was engaged in painting a room.

Fuel confessed immediately and said he had touched the match which caused the disastrous fire at Albert Kahn's Bell clothing store last Thursday night, which fire entailed a loss of several thousand dollars.

He also told how he ignited the pile of boxes in the rear of C. A. Guenther's dry goods store, on Ohio avenue, at the midnight hour Saturday night, and also, less than an hour later, set fire to a woodshed in the rear of Frank Williams' grocery, at Main street and Grand avenue.

Fuel was taken to the office of Chief of Police W. H. Boullt, where he reiterated his previous confession. He was committed to jail until this morning, when he was arraigned before Justice F. W. Clark.

He pleaded guilty to the charge of arson and was remanded to the county jail, awaiting the action of criminal court, with a recommendation that he be given five years in the Missouri Training School for Boys at Boonville.

Fuel said he set fire to the three stores merely to see them burn. After igniting the Bell Clothing store's building he ran through the alley to Lamine avenue and returned to Ohio avenue, via Third street, awaiting the sounding of the fire alarm. When he heard the fire department rushing to the fire he hurried there also to see the blaze.

Saturday night, so Fuel told Chief Boullt, he ignited the boxes in the rear of Guenther's store, and ran north to Main street until he reached the vicinity of Grand avenue, where he touched a match to the woodshed of Williams' grocery.

He did not use any coal oil at either of the three places, so he said, and at Williams' store the fire did not burn properly the first time and he returned a few minutes later. A watchman for Swift & Co. saw the blaze and extinguished it without causing any commotion.

Fuel is a tall, slender boy. While in court he was attired in a pair of overalls. He has a mania for seeing things burn and gets excited every time a fire is mentioned.

In court this morning the fire bell rang, and as the wagon of company No. 2 left the house Fuel jumped from his chair and would have gone through the window had not the window been occupied.

Fuel has been employed by W. A. Smith, a painter and decorator, but Sunday was working for Mr. Kaler. His mother is dead. He has two brothers, one of whom was arrested here months ago by Chief Boullt and returned to the United States navy at Norfolk, Va.

In addition to the charge of arson two other complaints have been made against the boy, one by Mrs. Georgia Nelson, of 807 West Main street, who accuses the youth of stealing some silk goods, lace and a pair of silk gloves from her home a week ago Saturday night. The boy admitted the theft.

About a month ago Fuel was employed at R. A. Higdon's home. Suddenly Mrs. Higdon's bracelet disappeared and suspicion pointed to the boy. He was questioned closely, but denied the charge at first. On being threatened with imprisonment he confessed and returned the jewelry.

Following the fire at Guenther's store Saturday night, Chief of Police Boullt was furnished with a description of the person seen to run away. The description tallied with that of Fuel and Chief Boullt was preparing to go after the boy Sunday morning, when Officer Wood made the arrest.

The fire at Guenther's, also that at Williams' grocery, did small damage at each place, but that at Mr. Kahn's Thursday night had gained such headway before being discovered that the loss will amount to thousands of dollars.

Insurance adjusters are expected here this week to adjust the loss, and until such is done Mr. Kahn's place of business will be closed, although it will be reopened just as soon as a settlement is made.

"Pete" Jamerson's Mother Dead.

(From Sunday's Daily)

"Pete" Jamerson, the cigarmaker, returned Sunday from Fairfield, Mo., where Friday he attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Eliza J. Jamerson, wife of Isam Jamerson, who died Thursday from pneumonia, aged 72 years.

RESIGNATION IS IN

THE REV. DUDLEY M. CLAGETT WILL LIKELY ACCEPT CHARGE AT ST. JOSEPH.

IT WILL BE EFFECTIVE APRIL 30

At Sunday's Services Divine Asked Congregation to Petition Presbytery to Dissolve Pastoral Relations.

(From Monday's Daily)

The Rev. Dudley M. Clagett, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church, at the morning services Sunday requested the members of his congregation to join with him in asking the Sedalia presbytery to dissolve him from the pastoral relations with the church in order that he may accept the pastorate of the Westminster Presbyterian church at St. Joseph, Mo.

The request followed a call issued to the Rev. Clagett from the official board of the St. Joseph church, asking him to become pastor there.

The divine's request will be acted upon at Wednesday's meeting of the presbytery, and should the relations be dissolved the dissolution will become effective on April 30.

As previously stated in the Democrat-Sentinel, the Rev. Clagett was some time ago asked to accept the St. Joe charge. Since that time he has been considering the matter.

Should the resignation be accepted it is not known who will succeed him, although a rumor is current that the Rev. Abbott, of Boonville, is one of the men in view.

EIGHT SAILORS KILLED

Accident on Board the Charleston Brought Havoc and Death.

Manila, March 28.—A report that a fatal accident had occurred on the United States cruiser Charleston was confirmed today. Eight men were killed and several others slightly injured. The accident occurred during target practice at sea, off Olongapo. The breech block of a three-inch gun blew out and in its flight across the deck cut through a steel stanchion and mowed down the men. Seven of the victims were instantly killed, while the eighth died as the Charleston was hurrying to Cawite. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Hundreds Killed in Fire.

Mate Szalks, Hungary, March 28.—Two hundred and fifty people were killed and as many others injured in a village at Oekoerite by a fire in a hotel where a ball was being held.

KEENE MAY PAY

THREATS MADE TO SPECULATOR MAY BRING HIM TO TIME.

NEGOTIATIONS HAVE STARTED

Brokers Who Were Caught In the Hocking Pool May Have Their Debts Paid By the Man Responsible for Crash.

New York, March 28.—Wall street heard a report that negotiations had been opened in behalf of James R. Keene, looking to a settlement of the claims of the creditors of Roberts, Hall & Cris, one of the firms which went down to failure in the collapse of the Columbus and Hocking Coal and Iron pool, of which Mr. Keene was the manager. If this be true Mr. Keene would probably have to settle with the creditors of J. M. Fiske & Co. and Lathrop, Haskins & Co. also. The three firms failed with losses aggregating $7,000,000.

That some such arrangement is under discussion is borne out by intimations that the bankrupt proceedings before United States Commissioner Alexander may come to an abrupt conclusion.

Creditors of Roberts, Hall & Cris held a meeting a few days ago, at which there was talk of instituting law suits against Mr. Keene looking to a settlement of their claims. Neither Mr. Keene nor his legal advisers are talking about the matter. Mr. Keene is sick and tired of the whole matter. The governors of the Stock Exchange would be only too glad if some arrangement could be reached whereby the Hocking scandal could be effaced from the public mind, while the creditors would welcome any proposition looking to a satisfaction of their claims.

Perley Morse, president of the Standard Audit company, certified public accountants, turned over to Lawyer Wolf his firm's transcripts of and deduction from the transactions of the 160 brokers who dealt in Hocking stock during the existence of the pool. It covers hundreds of pages. Every transaction, together with the profits of many of the brokers, is carefully noted.

During the last few days there has been a series of conferences at the office of Henry D. Hotchkiss, receiver for Lathrop, Haskins & Co., looking to a plan for the reorganization of the Hocking Coal and Iron property. Powerful Wall street interests are said to be interested in these conferences. Morgan interests are reported to have made a bid for the property at $45 a share some time ago, but that offer was refused by those in control.

Henry D. Hotchkiss, receiver for the Columbus and Hocking Coal and Iron company, in discussing the matter, said it was true there had been conferences looking to a reorganization of the company.

"Whether J. P. Morgan & Co. or the Standard Oil company is represented in these conferences I do not know," said Mr. Hotchkiss, "for the gentlemen participating have not divulged the names of their principals, nor have they disclosed the interests for whom they appeared. Hocking seems to have some interest value, and under proper reorganization could probably be made a valuable property."

WAS BURNED ALIVE

PRETTY RUTH WHEELER MET DEATH IN A MOST HORRIBLE WAY.

AUTOPSY REVEALED AWFUL FACT

Body Was Placed in Fireplace and Incinerated While the Helpless Victim Was Still Living—Accused Unconcerned.

New York, March 28.—Katie Muller, the young woman who has been living with Albert Wolter, held on a charge of the murder of 15-year-old Ruth Wheeler, was picked up by the police yesterday.

From her the authorities obtained some valuable corroborative evidence against Wolter.

Although the testimony of the Muller girl was the most interesting adduced, it was not the most sensational, for Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon, after performing an autopsy on the body of Ruth Wheeler, expressed the opinon that she had been burned alive.

A weak link in the chain of essentially circumstantian evidence with which the police and the district attorney's office are surrounding Wolter, would be difficult for the layman to find, but the official sleuths and the district attorney's office are working still in an effort to perfect their case against the man and to find out the whole truth of the murder of the child who went to Wolter's room in search of employment as a stenographer.

This morning when the jailers went to get Wolter for his arraignment the 19-year-old German, who had stood several hours of grilling on Saturday, had slept so soundly that the jailers had difficulty in awakening him. They took him to the Yorkville court, where the charge of abduction was withdrawn and Magistratt Breen remanded him to the custody of the coroner on the charge of murder. He was taken to the Tombs.

Katie Muller was arrested near a house in which she and Wolter had taken rooms after the police had searched their former lodgings. She is 18 years old. Under the questioning of the officials she told what they believe to be most of what she will have to tell.

She was born near Bremen, in Germany, and came here about three years ago. Her parents are not in this country. She met Wolter last June at a ball and in August they began living together. She was sure Wolter had had nothing to do with other girls. Her faith in him was jarred for the first time last Thursday evening, when Pearl Wheeler came to their rooms and demanded of him that he tell her where her sister, Ruth, was. This episode made her jealous, she said, and she demanded of him to tell her what he had to do with the other girl, though he finally acknowledged having written the postcard asking for a girl stenographer to call.

Then a couple of hours later the Wheeler sisters came back with the police and this call made her nervous and she tried aftrward, but in vain, to find out from Wolter what all the trouble meant. She said she had noticed on her return from work on Thursday evening that the stove had been moved from the dining room and the whole front of the fireplace painted. Also the hole in the fireboard through which the stove pipe had gone had been covered over by a picture.

She identified the shirt found as Wolter's and the sack in which Ruth Wheeler's body was found as the sack in which the wood was brought up to the rooms' She said that on Friday when she got up to go to work at 6 o'clock Wolter told her to pack up their things and meet him in the evening at Park avenue and Eighteenth street, where they were arrested. He said he was going out to rent a new home because the detective might continue to bother them where they were.

Saturday morning she was discharged from the bakery where she had been employed because her employer had read in the papers of the arrest of Wolter on the charge of abduction and that she was living with him without ceremony. She had then gone to the court on Saturday morning because she had nothing to fear and wanted to see what was done.

At the order of Coroner Holtzhauser Katie Muller was committed to the house of detention as a witness.

Dr. O'Hanlon, after making the post-mortem examination, said that he had sent portions of the body to Prof. John H. Larkin, of Columbia University, for microscopical examination, and added:

"I determined that the girl died from asphyxiation, following strangulation. I determined this from the condition of the lungs, the presence of the rope and the indentations on the neck, and I believe that the girl was smothered, and, while still alive, but unconscious, was put into the fireplace and incinerated."

The police have found some postcards with the addresses of other girls, but they would not say much about them. There were altogether the names and addresses of three girls in Elizabeth in the prisoner's belongings.

ONE PLEAD GUILTY

PARTNER SAYS HE IS INNOCENT

W. J. Walsh and Frank Wilson, Arrested at State Capital, Arraigned for Hearing Saturday—Bail Is $1,000.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

W. J. Walsh, aged about 35, a stranger in Sedalia, and Frank Wilson, also a stranger here, aged about 30, were arraigned before Justice F. W. Clark Saturday forenoon, charged with having burglarized the home of C. Y. Lawrence, a former Missouri Pacific conductor, on West Sixth street, Thursday night.

Wilson assumed the full responsibility for the crime and entered a plea of guilty to the charge. Both he and his partner, Walsh, were held to the action of the criminal court, in default of $1,000 bond and they were committed to the county jail.

The prisoners were arrested at Jefferson City Friday by J. A. Koch, a Missouri Pacific secret service officer, at the instigation of W. E. Rickey, special agent in this city.

When searched two gold watches, two rings, a diamond and pearl brooch, a stick pin a $5 bill torn in two parts and a number of pocket articles were found on their persons.

The majority of the valuables were identified as those taken from the Lawrence home. The stick pin Wilson was wearing in his tie when arrested, and this object Mrs. Lawrence did not miss until notified by the authorities that it had been found on one of the prisoners.

Chief of Police Boullt and Detective Rickey made a search Friday night and recovered the revolver, taken from the Lawrence home and secreted in a railway sand car.

Wilson confessed to the police that he had served five years at Hutchinson, Kan., for stealing a quantity of whisky.

TEDDY AS SPEAKER

INSURGENTS URGE THAT FORMER PRESIDENT BE GIVEN THE PLACE.

WILL GO AFTER CANNON AGAIN

Nothing in the Constitution to Prevent the Election of Some One Who Is Not a Member to Preside Over House.

Washington, D. C., March 28.—Insurgent leaders in the house of representatives will urge Theodore Roosevelt to become a candidate for the speakership of the house. The effort of the insurgents to themselves originate a proposition to depose Speaker Cannon, according to the present outlook, will be made about the middle of June, in the closing days of the session. Roosevelt lands in New York June 10.

We will be told then by spokesmen of the progressive republicans that more can be accomplished toward restoring party hormony by placing him in the chief place of influence in the house of representatives than by any other move that possibly could be made. If he can be induced to accept the office the insurgents believe that the regular republicans will be forced to vote for him. The reasoning also goes that President Taft can not object to having his former chief as his associate in charge of the administration's legislative business.

"If Roosevelt is in the country before congress adjourns," said one of the most influential house insurgents last night, "the proposal to make him speaker will be most seriously considered. Personally I can conceive of no better solution of the existing situation. Oh, of course, the regulars hate him. They hated him when he was president, but they are mighty few of them who will dare to vote against him.

"Yes, it is reasonably certain that another resolution vacating the chair will be laid before the house. This time it will come from a republican source. No such action will be taken until the appropriation measures and the big administration bills are out of the way. As matters now look the crisis will come about June 20."

The agitation for Roosevelt follows the suggestion made yesterday by Poindexter, of Washington, one of the extreme insurgents, that Asher C. Hines, the house parliamentarian, be elected to the speakership. A canvass of the situation, made yesterday, maks the fact clear that Hines could not be elected. The speaker, it is true, need not be a member of the house, but the leaders of all factions ageee that the English system of placing the gavel in the hands of parliamentarians, who, supposedly, are not swayed by any political consideration, will not work in this country. Hines himself is a republican and of the Maine uncompromising type. The democrats will not join with the insurgents to elect him.

"Absolutely preposterous," said Mr Champ Clark, minority leader, last night, discussing the rumor that possibly a move will be made to elect Hines. "It is tomfoolery to talk of electing any one not a member of the house to the speaker's chair. I suppos it could be done, but I don't think it ever will be done."

The influence of every member of the house, who himself has a chance to become speaker, republican or democrat, will be thrown against the proposal to turn the speakership over to a non-member. On the republican side, such men as Tawney, of Minnesota, Olmsted, of Pennsylvania, McCall, of Massachusetts, Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, Payne, of New York, and any one of a dozen others might get the honor if Cannon were out of the way. Cannon himself would be against the scheme.

That of Roosevelt is the only suggestion thus far made which contains any prospect of overcoming the traditional precedent involved and of suduing the personal ambitions of various congressmen. Roosevelt dislikes Cannon. Often while in the house Roosevelt expressed the wish that he could manipulate the gavel as well as the big stick. His course in summoning Gifford Pinchot to Europe for a conference indicate that the returning hunter is impressed with the arguments of those who distrust the Taft administration. Still, it is also certain that Roosevelt will think deeply before he parts company with Taft.

The insurgents think that the speakership will appeal very strongly to Roosevelt. In that office he would be able by his constant presence and influence to stiffen Taft's backbone, and would be in a position to prevent th passage of reactionary legislation.

A resolution to vacate the chair will be privileged at any time. When the last important bill is out of the way one of the middles west insurgents will offer such a resolution, according to the existing plan. It will promptly be adopted. The insurgents then propose to force an adjustment. The republican caucus will assemble immediately and begin theattempt to agree upon a nominee.

"The whole business need not take more than two days," said one of the rebels last night. "The insurgents will vote for whomsoever the caucus selects, except Cannon."

Farmer and Two Children Murdered

Concordia, Kas., March 28.—The bodies of Alexander Lindahl, a wealthy farmer, and his daughter, aged 10, and son, aged 8 years, were found Sunday evening in the Republican river, near here. Both children had been shot several times and the boy had also been struck with a club.

John Nordmard was arrested this afternoon on suspicion of being the murderer. Nordmark quarreled with Lindahl last week, it is said.

Bloodhounds have been taken to the scene of the murder.

CURES OLD SORES

"I CAN TRUTHFULLY SAY S.S.S. IS A CERTAIN CURE FOR OLD SORES, BECAUSE IT CURED ME OF A BAD ULCER, ON WHICH OTHER TREATMENTS HAD NO EFFECT."

This extract from the testimonial we publish below, will receive the endorsement of thousands of other persons who have used S. S. S. for sores and ulcers.

Every old sore comes from some kind of impurity in the blood. S. S. S. cures on the simple principle of removing the cause of the sore or ulcer and allowing nature to heal the place. When we think for a moment we realize that every portion of the body and system is dependent on the blood; that it is the circulation which nourishes all flesh tissues, and preserves their natural health. Thus we can readily understand why impurities or poisons in this vital fluid will infect and disease the flesh at some particular spot, and by continually discharging impurities into it, keep the place open, raw or inflamed. It would be against every law of reason to expect the sore to heal while the blood constantly deposits into it the infectious matter with which it is contaminated.

There is a simple way to cure old sores, and it is the only way—remove the cause from the circulation. External applications of liniments, plasters, lotions, salves, etc., can never produce a cure, because such treatment does not reach the blood, where the cause is located.

S. S. S. heals old sores because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers; it goes into the circulation and removes the cause from the blood. When the blood has been purified there is no longer any inflammatory impurity or infectious matter to irritate the place, and nature causes the natural and certain healing of the ulcer. When S.S.S. has cleansed the blood and the place is once more well, it is not a surface cure, every vestige of the old cause has been driven out and the place is solidly and firmly healed from the bottom to the surface. S. S. S. is made entirely of healing cleansing roots, herbs and barks, and contains no trace of mineral. It is a medicine adapted to persons of any age, and is just as effective with the old as with the young or middle aged.

I can truthfully say S. S. S. is a certain cure for Old Sores, because it cured me of a bad ulcer, on which other treatments had no effect. Five years ago a running sore came on my limb. I tried everything I could hear of, but the sore grew worse. Even the doctors could not heal it. A friend finally told me to try S.S.S., so I did and in the meantime wrote you for advice. I followed your instructions and took S.S.S. regularly. My leg began to improve, gradually the place healed over and began to look healthy, and finally the sore was cured entirely. I believe S. S. S. to be the best blood purifier one can use. I gladly recommend it as a cure for sores and ulcers.
Rockford, Wash. A. S. LACY.

Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is built up, and those whose health has been weakened by the drain of an old sore will be doubly benefited by its use. If you wish to know anything specially about your case write us. We will answer you fully, and will also send our book on Sores and Ulcers—no charge for either book or advice. A HORRIBLE CRIME

IT WAS DISCOVERED BY THE POLICE OF NEW YORK CITY SATURDAY.

GIRL WAS ASSAULTED AND BURNED

Had Been Missing Two Days When Charred Body Was Found On a Fire Escape—New Yorker Arrested for Crime.

International News Service.

New York, March 26.—One of the most revolting crimes ever perpetrated in the New York university was discovered this afternoon when the charred body of Ruth Wheeler, a 15-year-old stenographer, who disappeared last Thursday, was found on a fire escape in the rear of No. 222 East 75th street, next door to a house in which lived Albert Wolters, who is now held on a charge of homicide.

Wolters had been arrested on a charge of abduction when it was found that the girl had gone to his rooms seeking a position as a stenographer, but the charge was changed when the body was found.

The body was wrapped in an oil-soaked gunny sack and was burned almost beyond recognition. A charred fragment of a rope was sticking in her neck, showing that the girl had been strangled. The police made a careful search of the apartments occupied by Wolters and found evidence of a crime committed there.

From the fragments of post cards found in the room the police believe that Wolters made a practice of writing to business colleges to send him girl stenographers.

He had a wide correspondence with these girls and many of them called upon him.

CLOSED FIRST YEAR

REV. GRANT A. ROBBINS DID AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH SUNDAY.

CHURCH HAD SPLENDID YEAR

Edifice Was Filled to Overflowing Both Morning and Night and Gallery Half Filled—During the Year Were 112 Additions.

(From Monday's Daily)

The Rev. Grant A. Robbins, one of Sedalia's most able divines, Sunday closed his first year's work as pastor of the Frst Methodist Episcopal church of this city.

The day's services opened at 6 o'clock yesterday morning with a Junior league prayer meeting, at which eighty-eight persons were present.

At 9:30 o'clock Sunday school was held, the total attendance being 515. A basket collection at the Sunday school netted $31.50.

At the regular church services in the forencon the church was crowded and the gallery was half filled. The choir rendered splendid music, and there were six additions.

The pastor preached a sermon on "Necessity for the Death of Jesus," it being masterly and interesting.

At the night service the church was again crowded, and the gallery was more than half filled. There was a fine musical program, with a brief sermon by the pastor. There was one addition to the church, that being a traveling salesman from St. Louis.

In closing his first year's work, Rev. Robbins furnished a report of the year's occofpishments, as follows:

There were 112 additions during the year and the Sunday school has greatly increased in interest and attendance.

The collections were as follows:

Benevolent collections	$1,369
Music and bulletins	315
Ministerial support—district superintendent and bishop	2,240
Incidentals and evangelists	1,100
Ladies of Calendar, to pay on debt	800
Epworth and Junior league incidentals	60
Sunday school incidentals	200
Floating debt and pastor's moving expenses	375
Total	$6,459

The church has an indebtedness of $300 for paving, a floating debt of $200, and the ladies owe $20. In contrast to this the year's expenses exceeded last year's expenses fully $1,000, which goes to show that the church is in a very flourishing condition financially and otherwise.

"I attribute the success of the church to the official board, the ladies of the Calendar and the young people," the pastor said, in speaking of the church's health and condition. "for it is through their efforts that we are now in such splendid shape."

At the meeting of the official board last Monday night it unonimously adopted resolutions requesting the district superintendent to use every legitimate means to secure the services of Rev. Robbins here the coming year.

TOM JENKINS DEAD

ESTEEMED CITIZEN DIED FROM A CANCER AT HIS HOME NEAR HOUSTONIA.

HE WAS 64 YEARS OF AGE

Had Been Ill Since Last August and for Weeks Had Been at Death's Door—Widow and Five Children Survive.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Tom Jenkins, one of the best known and most highly esteemed retired stockmen in Central Missouri, succumbed to a lingering illness with cancer at his home near Houstonia at 1:35 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Jenkins was 64 years of age and had been afflicted with the dis ease since last August.

From that time up to the hour of his death he grew worse gradually, and for the past few weeks his condition was such that little surprise would have been occasioned by his death at any time.

Mr. Jenkins was born on a farm near Longwood. He was reared in that locality and spent the greater part of his early life in that section of the county. Some years ago he moved to a farm near Houstonia, where he had resided since.

He was a firm believer in the doctrines of the Christian church and had been an ardent supporter of that faith for more than forty years, and at the time of his death was holding the office of an elder.

He was twice married, his first wife being dead. Besides his widow, he is survived by five children, as follows: O. D. Jenkins, of near Newland; "Tod" Jenkins, of Sedalia; Ralph Jenkins, of near Longwood; Mrs. John Elmore, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. J. L. Cartwright, of near Newland.

Mr. Jenkins was widely known throughout the county. His entire life had been spent here and during his years in Pettis county he had made hundreds of friends, whose sincere sympathy will be extended to the bereaved family in their affliction.

The Rev. C. Q. Shouse will conduct funeral services at the family residence at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in the Jenkins burying ground, nearby.

The following will be pallbearers: N. P. Elmore, J. L. Cartwright, George Spears, Dr. John Mitchell, Clem Jones and William Curry.

FIRE BUG AT LARGE

"FIRE BUG" ESCAPED IN ALLEY

Blaze Was Discovered in Rear of C. A. Guenther's Store—Hundreds Swarmed to the Locality in a Few Minutes.

(From Monday's Daily)

A brazen attempt at incendiarism was made at 12 o'clock last night to set fire to the block occupied by the Palace Clothing store, the Sedalia National bank and the C. A. Guenther dry goods store.

Late pedestrians passing on the street saw the flames enveloping the rear of the building occupied by Guenther's, but George Press, of the Palace Clothing Co., who had discovered the fire, ran to the telephone and sent in a fire alarm.

On investigation it was found that a pile of dry goods boxes were on fire.

Instantaneous with the sounding of the alarm S. E. Press, of the Press Clothing company, who was just closing his place of business for the night, saw the reflection of the fire through his rear windows and looking out saw a man rushing through the alley in the rear of his store, running north.

He distinguished an object in the man's hand, which object closely resembled a coal oil can, but on account of his doors being locked he was unable to get outside in time to trace him.

Mr. Press then directed his attention to removing other boxes from the vicinity of the burning ones, and with the assistance of others prevented the fire from spreading, and doubtless saved the town from another disastrous conflagration.

In a moment hundreds of Sedalians were on the scene, including the mayor and the police, and when it was learned that a man had been seen in the neighborhood and, too, after the discovery that there was coal oil on the boxes, it prevailed on a number to make an effort to find the "firebug." No trace of the man was found, however, and it is a question as to whether the guilty person will ever be brought to justice.

The origin of the fire last night was identical to the one that did so much damage to the Bell clothing store Thursday nigat and to the fire which was discovered in a box of rubbish at the rear of the Ilgenfritz Hardware company's store the same night only a short time before the Bell's fire. The Ilgenfritz blaze did not occasion a general fire alarm, but company No. 2 was called quietly to extinguish it.

The circumstances surrounding the fire last night have doubtless given the local authorities evidence that a "firebug" is at work, and no doubt strong efforts will be made to apprehend him.

Mayor Babcock was among the officials there and after making an investigation was thoroughly satisfied that the boxes had been saturated with coal oil and that the fire was nothing more than a bold attempt to destroy the block.

Mr. Press in relating his experience said that the man he and his son George, saw running through the alley was attired in a suit of overalls, with a blue shirt and wore a black slouch hat. To the best of their knowledge he was a man about five and one-half feet tall, of slender build, weighing possibly 135 to 150 pounds.

The fire department responded promptly to the alarm and seeing the blaze from a distance concluded the block was afire. Chief Willis immediately ordered a line of hose connected to prepare for a fight. He was somewhat dismayed when, upon arriving at the scene, to find the fire to be only dry goods boxes.

He ordered the water turned on, however, inasmuch as he had the hose ready for service and easily extinguished the blaze.

The reflection from the fire caused Chief Willis to misjudge its propensity, no doubt on account of the coal oil causing the flames to shoot high into the air and completely envelop the rear of the building.

It was quick work on the part of the firemen and they are to be commended upon the precautionary measures taken, for had the blaze gained a little more headway the entire block would have been doomed.

DEMOCRATIC OPINION MOULDERS HELD PARTY CONFERENCE HERE SATURDAY.

WAS CONCLUDED WITH BANQUET

Aspirants for United States Senator Met On Same Plaform—D. R. Francis, James A. Reed and Others In Attendance.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

An echo of the Kansas City harmony meeting was heard in the city Saturday, when the democratic editors of the Seventh congressional district gathered for a conference with state officials and candidates for various offices.

For the first time since the announcement of their intentions the four democratic aspirants for United States senatorial honors met on the same platform. A feeling of pleasant rivalry was noted between Former Governor D. R. Francis, of St. Louis, and James A. Reed, of Kansas City.

Sterling P. Bond, of St. Louis, and J. D. Shewalter, of Independence, both were present and all of them spoke in the evening at a public meeting, which was largely attended.

The morning and afternoon were devoted to informal interchanges between the scribes and party leaders. School district and precinct organization plans were discussed, also methods of exploiting party doctrines.

Secretary of State Roach, State Superintendent of Schools H. A. Gass and Congressman W. P. Borland, of Kansas City, were the principal speakers of the afternoon. The former compared democratic and republican state administrations, while Mr. Borland reviewed the fight against Cannonism.

Mr. Roach christened Gov. Hadley as a new Columbus, who sought to mislead Missourians into the belief that his discovery of clear water in the current river and thirty years of reclamation work in the Little River Drainage district of Southeast Missouri were bona-fide.

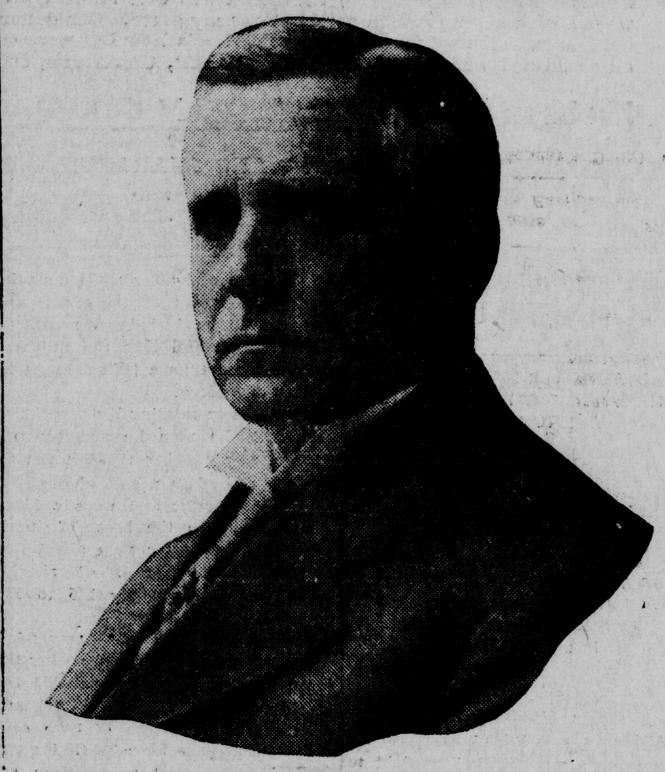
Democratic legislatures made possibe the reclamation of 1,000,000 acres of swamp lands, Mr. Roach said, yet Gov. Hadley would take credit for having impressed the farmers of the drainage belt with the necessity of such work.

The editors and other visitors mixed pleasure with business. An automobile ride to the state fair grounds in the afternoon followed the after dinner conference and the Democrat-Sentinel acted as host at a banquet in the evening.

All of the gatherings were marked with enthusiasm. The meeting was held at the suggestion of the democratic state central committee and the Democratic State Press association, having for its purpose a closer relationship and the promotion of the spirit of harmony.

More than two-thirds of the democratic editors in the Seventh district were here. Editor F. L. Stufflebam, of Bolivar, was the chairman. Others who addressed the conference were Representative John G. Miller, of Saline county; Representative Kirk Hawkins, of Greene county, who may run for state senator in the Twelfth district; State Commiteeman H. Carson, of Howard county; Charles B. Bacon, of Saline; Harry Agee, editor of the Lamonte Record; State Labor Commissioner J. C. A. Hiller, of St. Louis, and Thomas M. Bradbury, of Jefferson City, both candidates for railroad commissioner, and E. W. Stephens, of Columbia.

Mr. Francis was the first of the four democratic aspirants for the United States senatorial nomination to be heard last night. He was introduced in flattering terms by E. W. Stephens, of Columbia, chairman of the press committee of the democratic state committee and former president of the National Press association.



JAMES A. REED, KANSAS CITY.

James A. Reed, of Kansas City; Sterling P. Bond, of St. Louis, and J. D. Shewalter, of Independence, others who would succeed Senator Warner, spoke in the order named. The circuit court room was packed when the senatorial candidates were presented.

Mr. Reed attacked the republican tendency to centralization of power, ridiculed President Taft's efforts to hold his party together on the tariff issues, flayed the trusts and said he was unwilling to "see a policy initiated which creates paternalistic government, treats free citizens as children and reduces the American citizen to a condition of peonage not distinguishable in its last analysis from slavery."

Messrs. Bond and Shewalter spoke along similar lines, denouncing a government that violated the Jeffersonian doctrine of "equality of opportunity."

The gathering was lacking in discord and an echo of the Kansas City harmony meeting was heard at the conferences of the morning and afternoon between the editors, state officials and various candidates.

School district and precinct organization plans were discussed, also methods of better acquainting the rural voters with the important issues of the approaching campaign.

Governor Francis struck the keynote when he said he was more interested in seeing Missouri redeemed from republican supremacy than in being elected to office himself.

"We should make up our minds in the beginning," he declared, "not to waste our ammunition in fighting each other, but to save all of our fire for the common opponent. The republicans cannot again carry Missouri if we are united and we must be united. We never had a better prospect."

After the speaking at the circuit court room at night members of the convention were the guests of the Democrat-Sentinel at a banquet at the Antlers hotel, which lasted until the early hours of he morning.

At this banquet speeches were made by Congressmen Borland, Representative Hawkins, of Greene county; Hon. E. W. Stephens, H. B. Shain, W. G. Lynch and others, and the occasion served to further cement the fraternal spirit that now unites the members of the democratic party throughout the state.

The convention and all the circumstances connected with it has been of great help to democracy, and its influence will without doubt be felt in the contests that will come up in the near future in city and county elections in the Seventh district of Missouri.

Perfect harmony prevailed and a spirit of fraternalism was plainly in evidence during the entire sessions of the convention.

BURNED TO GROUND

Seven-Room House on Old Decker Homestead, East of Town.

(From Monday's Daily)

A seven-room frame residence on the old Decker land, southeast of the Missouri Pacific shops, caught fire from some unknown origin between 8 and 9 o'clock this morning, and together with the contents was totally destroyed.

The house was occupied by Andy Williams and family, also Mr. Williams' moher, she being the only person at home at the time, the family attending a funeral at Georgetown.

She is about 70 years of age and heard crackling sounds in one part of the house. Suddenly her room became filled with smoke and she began to scream. Neighbors heard her cries and ran to her assistance, carrying her to a neighbor's home, not, however, until her face had been badly burned.

The loss is estimated at $2,500. Mr. Williams carried $1,500 insurance on the house, but nothing on the contents.

Bought Notes for $100.

(From Sunday's Daily)

Two notes given by H. J. Smith to John D. Crawford, now deceased, were sold under deed of trust by Sheriff M. T Henderson Saturday.

F. W. Hixson, cashier of the Sedalia National bank, bought the notes for $100.

BIG EGG HARVEST

RECEIPTS AT CHICAGO NOW AT 5,000,000 MARK—SOON WILL REACH DOUBLE.

HOW THE SUPPLY MEETS DEMAND

Hens' Industry Produces Value Near Half Billion Dollars Annually, About 25 Per Cent Being Carried in Storage.

Chicago, March 28.—Five million eggs a day are pouring into Chicago now, and within a fortnight the flood will have reached the 10,000,000 mark. That is the way the hen goes at it when spring sunshine makes her glad and busy. All other big egg markets are inundated in just the same way, as they are always are in March and April. If the hen only would be more persistent during the rest of the year—but she won't. Nature's bidding is not economic.

Few persons realize the magnitude of the egg industry. It is larger in point of dollars than the beef business, and runs around the half billion dollar mark. Eggs come next to corn and wheat in the food items of our country in the total value of the annual business. Chicago's egg business probably amounts to about 1,500,000 eggs a year.

An analysis made by Paul Mandeville, of Chicago, president of the Northern Produce Exchange, shows that the eight weeks from about March 15 to May 15 is the great egg season of the year every year. The excess of those weeks and the egg deficit of later months is shown by his statistical table, as follows:

Month	Portion of crop gathered	Portion of crop consumed	Excess or deficiency compared with production.
	per cent	per cent	per cent
January	3	7	—4
Feb....	5	8	—3
March ..	12	10	X2
April ...	22	12	X10
May	19	10	X9
June ...	15	9	X6
July	9	8	X1
Aug. ...	6	7	—1
Sept. ..	4	8	—4
Oct.	2	7	—5
Nov. ...	1	7	—6
Dec.	2	7	—5
Total ...	100	100

According to estimates made by President Mandeville, based upon years of experience with the egg receipts in Chicago—which is the center of the industry in the United States—the demand for home consumpion exceeds the supply in August, September, October, November, December, January and February, the greatest deficiency occurring in November, when the supply of fresh eggs from the north is practically at a standstill and before the fresh crop from the south begins to come in. Consequently most of the eggs in the reserve supply of cold storage houses are consumed in November. "My record," said Mr. Mandeville, "shows that in January 3 per cent of the normal crop is gathered and 7 per cent of the normal crop is consumed, there being a deficiency of 4 per cent. What would the big cities do if there were no reserve storage supplies? The man who buys eggs for later use, however, takes long chances; last winter most of them lost money—aggregating hundreds of thousands."

Naturally the nation's egg appetite increases during the spring months, prices are lower and consumption greater. However, the hen's industry surpasses the demand enormously and then quite abruptly she quits laying, the production dropping from 22 per cent of the year's total in April to 9 per cent in July. Time was when the market became glutted, eggs became so cheap much of the supply never was marketed and there was less provision for the rest of the year. Now the country's surplus "crop" is taken for storage and comes upon the market when the hen fails by far to meet current demand.

"While the percentage of the total egg crop that is stored is comparatively small," Mr. Mandeville said, "the storage business is quite important to producer, consumer and dealer alike. It prevents a demoralized market in the spring when the supply is largely in excess of the demand, thus insuring fair prices to the producers. It also prevents an exorbitant price in November, when the supply is so greatly less than the demand. In this manner the trade is assured of eggs at a fair price throughout the year and the consumer who knows these facts need never pay the extreme prices asked for eggs advertised as 'fresh' in the fall and winter months when new laid eggs are not to be had. It is only the unscrupulous dealer or the small retailer who does not know the facts who contrive to sell the well-to-do consumer eggs at unfair prices."

April eggs are each year stored for the long hold, to be kept to supply the deficiency in November and December. This is done for very good reasons. April or early spring eggs are "good keepers;" summer eggs as a rule are not in good enough condition to store. "Until now the early eggs have been withdrawn from storage only for fine trade," Mr. Mandeville said, "but before long I expect to see more of the spring stored eggs used for the summer trade, especially when the egg producers improve their methods of handling their product. Probably an average of 7,000,000 eggs a day are received in Chicago during these weeks of egg production," added President Mandeville. "That is about fifty car loads. A car contains 400 cases and a case contains 30 dozen, or 360 eggs. Fifty car loads contain 20,000 cases. There have been times when the Chicago receipts reached 40,000 cases in one day.

"When the receipts in the spring reach 20,000 cases per day the cold storage men start to put away the eggs for use in the fall and early winter when the supply, as the figures show, greatly falls below the demand. In Chicago the normal average egg appetite calls for about 2,000,000 eggs per day; the spring appetite is considerably more, seldom failing below 3,000,000. In addition great quantities of eggs are shipped from Chicago to other points where the same spring appetite is in working order. This is why a supply of 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 eggs per day is necessary in the spring before there is any surplus left for storage."

MT. ETNA AGAIN ACTIVE

Experts Believe That Volcano Will Soon Bring on Earthquake.

Catania, March 28.—While the quantity of lava from the craters of Mount Etna continues to decrease, the internal activity of the volcano was stronger today than yesterday.

Frank A. Perret, the American volcanologist, believes the decrease in the flow of lava is due to obstructions in the new craters, which prevent its flowing freely, and that in a few days or perhaps in a week, the molten mass either will force a passage or an earthquake will result.

Mr. Perrett went from Nicolosi to the Alpine club refuge, which is situated near the craters, and later telegraphed down as follows:

"The activity of Etna today is stronger, but the lava is slower. Terrific explosions in the interior of the mountain continue."

KING EDWARD SAVING

Has Ordered Many Reductions Made in His Various Households.

International News Service.

London, March 26.—King Edward is planning a further reduction in his household expenses. There have been more than one all-round economizing campaign since he came to the throne, but apparently his majesty is not yet satisfied with the business side of his various homes.

Numerous sinecures have been dispensed with, but more are to go. The king's chief household officers have been ordered by their royal master to overhaul their various departments and see what economies can be effected without impairing their efficiency.

In Queen Alexandra's household also the pruning knife has been busy, and altogether the royal domestic arrangements have been modified so as to save a good round sum.

DO NOT PLANT TOO EARLY

Interesting Information for the Amateur Gardener.

When the birds come, the grass turns green, and for the first time since the long winter the amateur gardener can go coatless, the lust for digging and planting comes. Dig as deep as you can, provided the ground is not wet and soggy. But beware of planting too early.

Dig in manure, lots of it, but be sure it is well rotted. Green manure is poison to plants. No garden ever was dug too often or too deep. Digging makes the garden glad and gives fine crops later. But when in doubt about it being time to plant, do not plant.

It is a mistake to plant seeds or set out plants in a wet, cold soil. With few exceptions they will not grow. At best they will lie dormant. More often the cold and wet kill the tender germs and the seed and work of planting are both lost. The crop is delayed while waiting for the growth which never comes. No seed should be planted until the ground is reasonably dry—that is, not wet and sticky. When the proper condition prevails, put in the first sowing of the hardy seeds—radishes, lettuce, onions, spinach, early round smooth peas (if one must have them the wrinkled are a world better) and the like in vegetables.
